ABOUT THE LINDSAY CROSS

The Lindsay Cross, the symbol of the office of The Dean of the Seminary and Vice President of the University, is a replica of the cross in the Guy Chapel in Van Vliet Hall. The original cross was donated by Edwin B. Lindsay, a devout elder of First Presbyterian Church, Davenport, Iowa, and longtime member and chairman of the Board of Directors of the University of Dubuque.

The Celtic cross has a long history in Ireland and Scotland. It symbolizes the redeeming work of Christ and reflects the Christocentric emphasis of the seminary. The circle, connecting the arms of the cross, represents eternity.

In this particular cross, grapevines carved in low relief remind us of Jesus' words recorded in the Gospel of John, "I am the vine, you are the branches. Those who abide in me and I in them bear much fruit, because apart from me you can do nothing."

AN INTRODUCTORY WORD

THE REVEREND DR. JEFFREY F. BULLOCK

President

Welcome to the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary (UDTS)!

UDTS is one of the very few seminaries in America that is embedded in a vibrant and growing University setting. This larger University setting enables us to experience the world, in all of its complexities; from interacting with undergraduates over coffee at "Sylvia's Common Ground" to cheering at a football game to leading worship at the undergraduate chapel, opportunities abound for seminarians who want to be immersed in the larger culture--our mission field. For most of our history, UDTs has been a faithful presence in the preparation of men and women for ordained pastoral ministry. Over the last decade, our seminary has become a leader in distance education, both in the credentialed MDiv/MAMD degrees and in a variety of certificate programs, such as our CRE training, which has prepared more laypersons for faithful congregational service than any other program in the country. Our program produces men and women of faith who serve Jesus in congregations, who plant house churches, who share the gospel as athletic coaches and who serve as social entrepreneurs.

Ministry and mission all in service to Jesus Christ is at the center of who we are as a community of faith, worship and inquiry. We look forward to welcoming you to our faith community, and to helping prepare you for the ministry to which you have been called.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey F. Bullock, PhD

President

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

THE REV. DR. ANNETTE BOURLAND HUIZENGA

Dean of the Seminary and Associate Professor of New Testament

Where is God at work? How can we participate?

These two questions inspire the mission of the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary.

In 1852, God was at work in Dubuque, Iowa, on the "Western frontier" of the United States, when a pastor began training ministers for congregations of German immigrants.

In the 21st century, God continues to work—in Dubuque and throughout the world. At UDTs, we still train students

- to expand their awareness of God's desire for justice and mercy,
- to develop the many skills needed by today's Christian leaders, and,
- to practice spiritual disciplines that will nurture in them a deeply satisfying relationship with the Triune God.

The students at UDTs learn how to pray and how to study, how to grow in mutual relationships and how to serve with righteousness and compassion. The graduates of our programs are equipped to live out the gospel of Jesus Christ in a variety of ministry contexts.

If you sense a call to join God's mission and want to know more of the depth and breadth of the Christian faith, then we welcome you to our learning community.

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary offers three graduate theological degree programs: the Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.), the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) and the Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship (M.A.M.D.). Both our master's programs are available in either residential or distance formats. The curricular requirements of the distance programs are identical to the residential program. Participants take two-week intensive courses offered annually in August and online courses in the fall and spring. Under this paradigm, no matter where you live, it is possible to earn an M.Div. in three years and the M.A.M.D. in two years, primarily by taking online courses.

Dubuque Seminary provides two special programs for non-traditional students without an undergraduate degree. The 3/3 program enables qualified non-traditional students to complete a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Divinity degree in six years. The 3/2 program provides for completion of both a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship in five years.

The faculty of the seminary also teach many of the courses in the Master of Arts in Christian Leadership, offered by the University of Dubuque, and offer online courses that can prepare students to be approved as Commissioned Ruling Elders, and online continuing education for teaching elders.

At Dubuque Seminary, we take seriously our responsibility to nurture those called to lead in Christ's church. Our faculty members are committed to serving the church and to participating in God's mission in this world. Every faculty member has worked in Christian ministries: as a pastor, missionary, worship leader, program director, and/or administrator. . U.D.T.S. is a learning community where diversity is appreciated and Christian love is practiced. The seminary encourages a zeal for life-long learning and service.

We welcome your interest, and invite you to look closely at Dubuque Seminary as you seek to follow God's call.

The Rev. Dr. Annette Bourland Huizenga

Dean of the Seminary and Associate Professor of New Testament

GENERAL INFORMATION

HISTORY

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary was founded in 1852 to reach out to German settlers pouring into the Midwest. The seminary provided theological education to those called to serve the region as evangelists and pastors. The school—initially known as Van Vliet Seminary after founder Adrian Van Vliet—was renamed the German Theological School of the Northwest in 1864.

In 1870, the seminary was accepted by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church as a theological institution of the church. Because few of the students had college educations, undergraduate studies were eventually added. On June 17, 1920, a new charter was issued, renaming the school the University of Dubuque.

From 1965-81, the three seminaries in Dubuque—U.D.T.S., Wartburg Theological Seminary (then of the American Lutheran Church), and the Aquinas Institute of Theology (Roman Catholic)—formed an unprecedented threefold-seminary consortium, sharing classrooms, library, and living arrangements. When the Dominicans moved to St. Louis, U.D.T.S. returned to the University of Dubuque campus.

Since 1998, the seminary has been educating Commissioned Ruling Elders in the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) through distance education to provide leadership for smaller congregations. We also provide continuing education for teaching elders in distance format.

Beginning in 2007, Dubuque Seminary became one of a handful of mainline theological institutions accredited by the Association of Theological Schools to offer up to two-thirds of the Master of Divinity courses via distance education. In 2014 we started offering the Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship in both distance and residential formats.

Most recently, in 2015, the seminary faculty started teaching in the Master of Arts in Christian Leadership (click here or more information on the MACL degree), offered completely online by the University. This degree program is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC).

The seminary faculty actively pursues excellence in online and residential pedagogical strategies.

Throughout its history, the faculty and staff of U.D.T.S. have been dedicated to our mission: forming God's people for servant leadership in ministry and mission.

UNIVERSITY SETTING

One of the advantages of theological education at U.D.T.S. is the university of which it is a part. The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary is the only Presbyterian seminary that is an organic part of a larger institution. The past decade has seen a tremendous transformation in the University of Dubuque campus: multiple construction initiatives have integrated technology and provided comfortable, modern facilities for graduate and undergraduates alike. Due to its university setting, U.D.T.S. is able to offer students access to state-of-the-art library resources and technology support. The Charles C. Myers Library serves the needs of both the college and the seminary. When on campus, seminary students have full access to university athletic facilities and may attend concerts, lectures and other cultural events.

LIBRARY SERVICES

The Charles C. Myers Library is a beautiful, inviting place that offers students a variety of study areas, including group study rooms, individual carrels, and Sylvia's Common Ground, the coffee shop. The building offers wireless access and over 75 computers for student use.

A 21st century library is more than a physical space, however. Because of the library's extensive online resources, the world of scholarship is at our students' fingertips. Through the library web page U.D.T.S. students may access 60 databases, over 30,000 electronic periodicals, and 178,000 electronic books. Many key reference works are also available online. With an interlibrary loan system that delivers articles to students' email within days, sometimes hours, students can get the resources they need. A friendly library staff is just an email or phone call away. If you are on campus, you may also stop in at the reference desk.

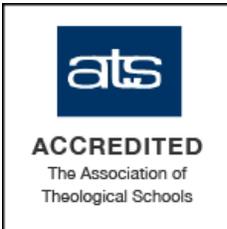

The Myers Library and Wartburg Theological Seminary's Reu Memorial Library form a partnership to serve the needs of students. Their combined resources include over 175,000 volumes at the University of Dubuque and 95,000 volumes at Wartburg. A courier service between UD and Wartburg facilitates loans between libraries.

HOUSING OPTIONS

Townhouses are available on campus for seminary students. Housing is available on a first-come, space-available basis. For the August residencies, students receive discounted rates at a local hotel, which provides breakfast and shuttle service to campus and the airport.

ACCREDITATION

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary is accredited by both of the following accrediting agencies:

The Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada (A.T.S.)
10 Summit Park Drive
Pittsburgh, PA 15275-1103
Phone: 412.788.6505
Website: www.ats.edu

The Higher Learning Commission North
Central Association of Colleges and Schools (H.L.C. NCA)
30 North Lasalle Street, Suite 240
Chicago, IL 60602
Phone: 312.263.0456
Website: www.higherlearningcommission.org

The seminary is a member of the Committee on Theological Education of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and is approved by the University Senate of the United Methodist Church (UMC) Division of Higher Education and Ministry. It is a member of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education.

U.D.T.S. is accredited by the Association of Theological Schools (A.T.S.) and the Higher Learning Commission (H.L.C.) to offer a significant portion of both the Master of Divinity degree and the Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship degree via distance education.

The distance M.Div. program, which operates on a cohort model, can be earned in either three or four years, by coming to the Dubuque campus for only two weeks a year. This fully-accredited degree is offered as an approved exception to the A.T.S. Degree Program Standard A, section A.3.1.3 and Standard B, section B.3.1.3.

INSTITUTIONAL RELATIONSHIPS

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary is one of ten theological institutions of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), but also serves students from a variety of other denominations. The seminary is primarily informed by the Reformed tradition, but welcomes and engages the riches of theology and ministry of the various communions of the one, holy, catholic and apostolic church. It enjoys a close consortium relationship with Wartburg Theological Seminary of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, and is approved by the University Senate of the United Methodist Church to prepare United Methodist clergy.

While providing training for diverse ministries, the seminary emphasizes the local Christian community as the central arena for mission and ministry in service to Christ.

THE SCHOOLS OF THEOLOGY IN DUBUQUE

Dubuque's two seminaries – the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary (U.D.T.S.) and Wartburg Theological Seminary (W.T.S.) – have cooperated since 1962 in a ministry of theological education. This cooperative program offers students educational opportunities, resources and personnel that a single institution could not provide. Students at both schools are able to cross-register for residential classes. Occasionally classes and seminars are taught jointly on an inter-seminary basis. U.D.T.S. and W.T.S. students have ready access to the faculties and libraries of both seminaries.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (F.A.Q.S)

When Jesus called his disciples, he simply said, “Follow me” (Mark 1:17). When he sent them out, he advised them to “take nothing for the journey, no staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money; and do not have two tunics” (Luke 9:3). The disciples responded in faith.

Although the decision to attend seminary does not require such radical economic discipline, it is just as much a step in faith. At the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary you will not take that step alone; we are committed to helping you answer the practical questions connected with a decision to pursue a theological education.

Here are some answers to the most frequently asked questions about seminary education at Dubuque:

Q: Do I need to have a particular call to ministry in mind when I enroll in Seminary?

A: A call can take many forms. For some, it is a single, life-changing experience like the apostle Paul’s. Others experience God’s call gradually: a steady nudging that Christian leadership is right for them. And for others, recognizing God’s call is a process of stops and starts, of experimentation and questioning. Some attend seminary to test the waters-to see if their sense of calling is confirmed by the experience of joining a community of students and faculty who are seeking to love God with all of their heart, soul, and mind.

Those preparing for leadership in the Church have also often responded to an outer call: other Christians saying “You have the gifts for leadership in the church.” While U.D.T.S. does not require you to have a formal candidacy with a congregation or denomination prior, we are committed to collaborating with your church to provide the preparation you need for faithful ministry and mission.

Q: How will UDTS prepare me for ministry?

A: The U.D.T.S. faculty and staff are committed to preparing faithful pastors and leaders in ministry. Core curricula consisting of Scripture, History, Theology, Ministry, Mission, Spiritual Formation, Field Education and Supervised Practice in Ministry (SPM) provide a foundation for our M.Div. and M.A.M.D. programs. Most of our M.Div. students become pastors of congregations, but graduates also serve as associate pastors, pastoral counselors, chaplains, teachers, and lay leaders in mission and ministry. Historically, the placement rate for U.D.T.S. graduates has been near 100%.

Q: What degree program is the best fit for me?

A: U.D.T.S. offers three graduate theological degree programs: The Doctor of Ministry, Master of Divinity and Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship. The Doctor of Ministry degree is designed for those who have been in full-time Christian leadership for three years beyond the M.Div. It focuses on Congregational Renewal and requires three one-week residential intensives over three years, online interaction in the spring and fall semesters equivalent to a second residential week, and a doctoral project.

The M.Div. curriculum integrates theological studies with the practice of ministry to nurture faithful and effective pastors. Vocational placement for the M.Div. degree may take the form of pastoral leadership, chaplaincy, parish nursing, new church planting, social ministry, evangelism, youth or young adult ministry, spiritual direction, pastoral care and counseling, and collegiate administration and/or teaching.

The 40-credit M.A.M.D. curriculum equips students for leadership in missional ministry in congregations and other settings. The degree addresses the question of what it means to be a faithful follower of Christ in today’s world. Vocational placement for this degree includes: ministries of outreach, urban ministry, new church development, youth ministry, Christian education, coaching, parish nursing, or working with various para-church organizations.

As an affiliate of the University of Dubuque, U.D.T.S. provides two special programs for non-traditional students without an undergraduate degree. The 3/3 program enables qualified students to complete a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Divinity degree in six years. The 3/2 program provides for completion of both a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship in five years.

Additionally, the University of Dubuque offers a completely online 30-credit Master of Arts in Christian Leadership degree that can be completed in as little as one year. This degree roots students in the Christian Scriptures and theology and practices of the church in order to equip graduates for missional service and leadership in their chosen vocation.

Q: Are the residential and distance programs the same?

A: We now offer both of our master's degrees in two settings: residential and distance, but the degree requirements do not change. That means the academic standards we've set for our residential students are exactly the same for our online students. Our faculty teach the same courses with the same curricular goals and the same grading scale in both settings: the professors you meet during your intensives are the same professors you'll take classes from online. We are called to prepare faithful leaders – academic excellence goes hand-in-hand with our mission.

Q: How does distance learning reflect the mission of U.D.T.S.?

A: The mission of U.D.T.S. is to form God's people for servant leadership in ministry and mission. That's what we've been doing for more than 150 years. We realize that not everyone who is called to pursue theological education is able to move to Dubuque for three or four years of seminary. Perhaps you are also called to remain in your current geographical setting. That's where distance learning comes in: by combining online classes with brief on-campus residencies, we can serve students and congregations from every part of the country and around the world. Because you don't have to relocate for your studies, you can stay in your current setting.

Q: Is distance theological education right for me?

A: We think online learning is a great opportunity for students to equip themselves for ministry without relocating. Distance education works through the full range of technology to provide a dynamic, interactive, flexible learning experience. Our faculty has been bringing depth of experience and cutting-edge advances to online education since 1997. Please contact us to help determine if this could be a viable alternative for you.

Q: What are affordable options for seminary?

A: Financial planning is an important aspect of faithful stewardship. We want to work with you to make your financial planning responsible and effective. We assist students in the educational preparation for ministry by providing need-based grants and scholarships, fellowships, work study opportunities, and loans for all eligible students. Students are encouraged to explore other/alternative employment options both on and off campus, as well as scholarships and funding from outside sources.

If you sense a call to ministry with young adults, then consider applying to our Young Adult Ministry Scholars Program. These students obtain a master's degree at 100% tuition scholarship, plus free on-campus housing while working with undergraduate students at the University of Dubuque.

For additional information, please see the financial aid and scholarships pages.

Q: Will the U.D.T.S. community be the right fit for me?

A: U.D.T.S. is a Christian learning community, so community-building is at the center of our coursework. Year after year, graduates of our degree programs rank "sense of community" as one of the strongest elements of their education at U.D.T.S. Both residential and distance students benefit from the care taken by faculty and staff to form relationships among students, relationships that help to clarify one's gifts and calling, to promote healthy life practices, and to support the intellectual disciplines needed for graduate work.

U.D.T.S. and the University of Dubuque offer a variety of opportunities for deep Christian community that include close personal relationships with Seminary faculty, community worship, spiritual formation, campus ministry, Bible study, mission trips, retreats, and performing arts.

Q: What are the seminary housing arrangements?

A: U.D.T.S. provides a variety of housing options for residential, distance, and commuter students.

Residential students and families may be housed in Seminary Village. Housing is provided on a first-come, space-available basis. The Dubuque area also offers a variety of apartments, townhouses, and homes as an affordable housing option.

Distance students come to campus for two-week residencies in August for at least the first three years of their program. During these residencies, a block of rooms is reserved for students at a local hotel located near campus.

Q: What does Dubuque, Iowa have to offer?

A: Dubuque features a rich history, unique architecture, and abundant natural beauty. Dubuque's identity is shaped by its location beside the Mississippi River. The city offers countless historical tourist attractions such as the National Mississippi River Museum and Aquarium, the Fenelon Place Elevator, and numerous beautiful parks. Dubuque's geographical landscape lends itself to various recreational areas and preserves and biking and hiking trails that can be utilized year round.

Dubuque also features a growing art and music scene which is highlighted by restoration in both the Historic Millwork District, upper and lower Main Street, and the addition of The University of Dubuque's own Heritage Center for Performing Arts. Dubuque art lovers look forward to the Voices of the Warehouse District, a month-long art exhibit and cultural event that includes concerts, fashion and music shows. The Dubuque Symphony Orchestra performs year round and hosts a multitude of notable musicians both domestic and internationally. With the University's Heritage Center for Performing Arts, everyone including students, faculty, and area residents can experience a wide variety of Broadway plays, ensembles, concerts, and dramatic performances. For the traveler, Dubuque also boasts a variety of quaint bed and breakfasts, many established and popular hotels, and an array of restaurants.

Dubuque Community schools are committed to academic excellence and have been honored as "blue ribbon" schools. School age children of residential seminarians attend nearby Irving Elementary School, Washington Middle School, and Dubuque Senior High School. In addition to many public and private elementary, middle, and high schools, Dubuque is also home to five institutions of higher education, making it a center for culture and learning.

Local facilities make Dubuque the hub of a regional health team, providing hospitals and physicians to the tri-states of Iowa, Wisconsin, and Illinois. The community's two hospitals, Unity Point-Finley and Mercy Hospital, have been long-standing providers of health care in Dubuque and the surrounding area.

ADMISSION TO SEMINARY

The seminary is seeking women and men who show strong potential for service to Christ and the church. The strongest applicants are those who demonstrate a love of God and neighbor, keen intellectual ability, strong communication skills, and the potential for Christian leadership.

UDTS is a graduate professional school. All students enrolling in degree programs must have graduated from colleges or universities accredited by an agency recognized by the U.S. Dept. of Education's office of Post-Secondary Education, or holding membership in the Association of Universities and Colleges in Canada.

M.DIV. AND M.A.M.D. ADMISSIONS REQUIREMENTS

We encourage a broad baccalaureate preparation for our masters' programs. Studies in world history, philosophy, languages and literature, the natural sciences, the social sciences, music and other fine arts, and religion are recommended. In special cases, applicants to the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) and Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship (MAMD) degree programs who do not meet all the academic qualifications, may be admitted on provisional student status. Conditions may be placed on a student's acceptance due to the lack of course work in the humanities, a low academic grade point average, or other special circumstances.

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary also provides two unique programs for non-traditional residential students without an undergraduate degree. The 3/3 program enables qualified students to complete a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Divinity degree in six years. The 3/2 program provides for completion of both a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship in five years.

To complete a degree program on schedule, it is recommended that students in the Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship begin their studies with the August residency. However, students may be accepted into these programs for either the fall or the spring semester.

A student may be accepted under the following categories of entry: as a full or part-time student in a degree program, as a transfer student, or as an unclassified student.

APPLICATION AND MATRICULATION PROCESS

Applicants for the M.Div. and M.A.M.D. programs must:

- Submit a $50 nonrefundable application fee
- Provide the completed application form
- Compose two essays on assigned topics, each 350 to 500 words in length
- Provide a resume or documentation of work experience
- Provide email contact information for three letters of recommendation from the following persons:
 - a pastor
 - a professor (or, if out of school for over 5 years, a person who can comment on applicant's ability to complete master's level work)
 - a friend or colleague
- Have an official transcript sent from each college, university or seminaries attended, and, if currently enrolled as a student, provide a letter of academic standing
- Prepare for a required interview
- Complete a background check through www.certifiedbackground.com Contact the Admissions Office for details.
- Upon acceptance, submit a nonrefundable enrollment fee.

As an institution of the church, U.D.T.S. is not simply an academic institution; academic qualifications alone do not qualify applicants for admission. The call of God and the corroboration of God's people are equally important. U.D.T.S. reserves the right to exercise its discretion in granting or denying admission to an applicant for any of its programs on any grounds consistent with its educational standards, its stated purpose and mission, its religious commitments, and its self-understanding as a community. Therefore membership in the seminary community is by invitation of the seminary community.

The seminary dean in consultation with other faculty members will review the candidate's file before a decision on admission is made. A letter from the appropriate denominational body having responsibility for the candidate's preparation for ministry may also be required.

If English isn't the applicant's first language, a TOEFL test is required.

Applications for degree programs are reviewed without prejudicial regard to race, ethnic origin, sex, marital status, physical handicap or age. All deliberations are confidential.

CRITERIA FOR STUDENTS TO BE ADMITTED WITHOUT A BACCALAURATE DEGREE:

Admission for Master of Divinity requires:

1. Students must take and place in the 60th percentile or above in the Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) in both:
Verbal Reasoning
Analytical Writing
2. Endorsement from a Judicatory official stating that lack of B.A. will not be an impediment to ordination or leadership position. United Methodists require special permission from their Board of Ministry.
3. Students must submit a 300-word essay explaining why it is essential to their vocational plans to pursue a M.Div. without first obtaining a bachelor's degree.
4. Students will be admitted into the program on probationary status. A grade point average of 2.0 or above in the first semester will ordinarily remove the individual from probation.

Admission for Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship requires:

1. Students must take and place in the 60th percentile or above in the Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) in both:
Verbal Reasoning
Analytical Writing
2. Students must submit a 300-word essay explaining why it is essential to their vocational plans to pursue a M.A.M.D. without first obtaining a bachelor's degree.
3. Students will be admitted into the program on probationary status. A grade point average of 2.0 or above in the first semester will ordinarily remove the individual from probation.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

Priority is given to applications submitted by April 15 for admission for the following academic year. Applications completed after April 15 are considered on a space-available basis, and applications received less than three weeks before the start of class will normally be deferred. Applications submitted by November 1 may be considered for spring term admission. The seminary admissions office reserves the right to postpone action on an applicant's file.

Priority in the awarding of financial aid is given on the basis of the date of acceptance. Payment of the enrollment confirmation fee and the date of receipt of the housing deposit determine priority in campus housing assignments. If an applicant intends to use U.D.T.S. housing, an additional housing deposit is required. These deposits are nonrefundable for students who do not enroll.

ADMISSIONS DEFERRAL

An applicant who has been offered admission may defer enrollment for one academic year; longer deferrals will require re-application.

DENIED APPLICANTS

Any individual who is denied admission to the seminary is permitted to re-apply after waiting for two years.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

A student from another accredited theological school who wishes to transfer to the Master of Divinity or the Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship degree programs at U.D.T.S. must submit a complete application, an official transcript record, and a letter of honorable dismissal, recommendation, and academic standing from the institution last attended.

Upon matriculation, the transcript is evaluated in detail, indicating how the transfer credits will be handled and the degree completion requirements. Only courses with a grade of C or better will be considered for credit and only courses taken within the previous 10 years will be considered for transfer. (See section titled Transfer Credit in the Academic Regulations section.)

PROVISIONAL STUDENTS

An applicant to the Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship degree programs who does not meet all the academic qualifications for that program, but who is considered academically capable to undertake the program, may be permitted to enroll in the regular course of study for academic credit on a probationary basis. The student must enroll in required courses and will be eligible to be removed from probationary status at the time the Academic and Student Affairs Committee feels confident in the student's progress.

Occasionally a candidate may be admitted conditionally based on the successful completion of additional requirements, such as further progress in the denominational candidacy process or additional undergraduate courses to supplement the applicant's pre-seminary preparation. Applicants may be required to submit GRE (or SAT, ACT) scores, and may be admitted on academic probation. A grade point average of 2.0 or above in the first semester will ordinarily remove the individual from probation.

UNCLASSIFIED STUDENTS

Unclassified students are those who fall into one or more of the following categories:

- Those who have not been admitted into a degree program and are permitted to begin studies without such admission;
- Those who do not meet formal requirements for admission into a degree program, but are permitted to take courses for purposes of personal growth;
- Those who do not meet formal requirements for admission to a degree program, but are permitted to pursue a non-traditional program of study, with the recommendation of their sponsoring denomination and with the approval of the Dean.
- Those who are currently attending or have graduated from other ATS accredited seminaries and wish to supplement their studies with U.D.T.S. courses.

When you first apply for Admissions as an Unclassified Student, you will need to:

- Complete an Unclassified Student Application Form
- Complete an Unclassified Student Registration Form indicating the course(s) desired
- Pay a non-refundable application fee of $30. To pay by credit card call 563.589.3212
- Provide a reference from a pastor. Applicants must use our form for a Pastor/Judicatory Official reference. A second reference from a professor or colleague will be required, unless the applicant is currently attending an A.T.S. accredited seminary
- Send a copy of the final official transcript from the institution granting your highest degree
- Submit the a report of academic standing if currently enrolled anywhere else as a student
- Provide a narrative statement indicating why you are interested in graduate level theological studies as an unclassified student (500 words or less)

Unclassified students may take up to six hours per semester, three hours in the January or August residency, or six hours during the summer. Unclassified students wishing to enroll for more than the above number of hours must first obtain the written permission of the Dean of the Seminary. Those who obtain such permission and who register for nine semester hours or more will be subject to the student fee. Tuition for unclassified students is $700.00 per credit hour.

A student may earn a maximum of 12 credits in unclassified status. To continue beyond 12 credits, the student must apply to a degree program or apply for permission of the Academic and Student Affairs committee to continue as an unclassified student.

D.MIN. ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Master of Divinity Degree. Students are required to have completed a M.Div. degree with a "B" average or above from an A.T.S. accredited seminary. For students applying without a M.Div. degree, see the section below on M.Div. Equivalency standards.

Experience. Ordinarily, students must have been in full-time ministry for a minimum of three years following the completion of their M.Div.

Currently in Ministry. Students must be employed in a ministry setting and remain in ministry throughout their D.Min. program. For students without this employment, special circumstances may apply.

Prospects for Success. Students must give evidence of the possibility of successful completion of the program through demonstrated success and recommendations.

English is Required. Applicants who are not native speakers of English must pass the TOEFL exam with a score of 550 (paper-based score) or 80 (internet-based score).

Evaluation. Applications for admission will be evaluated utilizing transcript evidence, reference letters, judicatory and ministry setting support, the applicant's autobiographical statement, and the student's anticipated learning goals.

Interview. A personal interview with the cohort leader is a required part of the application process.

Doctor of Ministry Policy for Determining M.Div. Equivalency

1. When one applies to the D.Min. program at U.D.T.S. with a master's degree other than the M.Div. degree, a M.Div. Equivalence Evaluation is necessary to assess whether the applicant's educational background meets the educational equivalent of the M.Div. degree. If it is determined that the applicant's educational background does not meet the equivalent of the M.Div., the Director of the D.Min. program will provide specific course recommendations to meet the D.Min. admission requirement. The meeting of the M.Div. equivalent does not result in the conferral of the M.Div. degree. Its sole purpose is to qualify the applicant for admission to the D.Min. program.
2. Relevant transcripts for the equivalent degree, along with syllabi and other appropriate documentation, will be provided to the Dean, who will conduct a M.Div. Equivalence Evaluation.
3. Equivalence will assume at least 72 hours of graduate academic work in a field related to theology, biblical studies, or the practice of ministry. When evaluating the degree program, the following standards will be assumed as a baseline for equivalence:

BIBLE: a minimum of 4 courses, or 12 credit hours, that will normally include a course in Old Testament studies and a course in New Testament studies, as well as two additional courses in both Old and New Testament exegesis;

HISTORY and THEOLOGY: a minimum of five courses, or 15 credit hours, that will normally include at least two courses in theology and two courses in church history;

MINISTRY: A minimum of four courses, or 12 credit hours, in fields related to practical ministry (including but not limited to pastoral care, worship, preaching, Christian education, discipleship, spiritual formation, etc.);

Any waivers from these standards shall be determined by petitioning the Academic and Student Affairs Committee of the seminary.

The remaining credit hours may be taken in electives germane to the M.Div. degree and to the applicant's own place and role in ministry.

4. Applicants who have fewer than 72 graduate level credits or whose degree is determined to have deficiencies in the equivalence standards will have the option to defer their application while satisfying the appropriate requirements. The Director of the D.Min. program will recommend appropriate courses to satisfy the deficiencies. This work may be done at U.D.T.S. by applying as an unclassified student (distance or residential) or at any A.T.S. approved seminary.
5. Applicants who are no more than ten credits short of meeting the above standards will be allowed to apply to the D.Min. program as a provisional student, as long as there is an approved plan in place for meeting the deficiencies within the next academic year. Provisional students will not be allowed to move to the project phase until all deficiencies have been satisfied.
6. Applicants who require a M.Div. Equivalence Evaluation will not be eligible for a waiver from the requisite three years of experience in ministry.

PROGRAMS, SERVICES, WORSHIP & SPIRITUAL LIFE

PROGRAMS

Continuing education

In addition to regular seminary courses, continuing education seminars are offered to meet the needs of pastors and laity. Leadership for these seminars comes from the seminary faculty and from the church. Some continuing education events take place off-campus, in cooperation with presbyteries, conferences or other governing bodies. Continuing education classes are also offered online through our Christian Leadership Plus Program.

Continuing education units (C.E.U.'s) are available for most continuing education events. It is not necessary to be enrolled in a degree program to participate in continuing education seminars.

Students enrolled in U.D.T.S. degree programs are, with the approval of the Dean, permitted to participate in residential continuing education programs, in many cases at no additional expense.

Lectureships

Each year the seminary brings outstanding writers and teachers to Dubuque to share their insights and scholarship with the community at large.

The Berger Lectures on Preaching, established by alumni/ae and friends of the seminary in memory of the late professor of preaching, David I. Berger, have been delivered in recent years by noted scholars such as Craig Barnes, Jana Childers, Luke Powery, Anna Carter Florence, Ellen Davis, and Mary Hulst.

The Florence L. Warren Lectureship, established through the generosity of that late friend of the seminary, has brought to U.D.T.S. distinguished scholars who have lectured on topics related to religion and culture. Some of those who have delivered these lectures are Kenda Creasy Dean, Joseph Small, Jay Moon, and Philip Jamieson.

The Woods Lectures on Religion and Culture are made possible by a gift from the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in honor of their former pastor, the Rev. Dr. John Woods. Lecturers have included Chip Andrus, Katharine Henderson, Jeff Barker, Carol Howard Merritt, and Alan Roxburgh.

Christian Leadership Program

The overall goal of the Christian Leadership Program is to strengthen the church through quality theological education for lay persons. While the courses offered are particularly designed for lay pastor candidates in the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), they serve the needs of all lay persons who are contributing their gifts to the ministry of their local church. Church officers, youth leaders, Christian education leaders and teachers, mission workers, and persons who wish to deepen their understanding of the Christian faith will discover a rich opportunity through this program.

For more information on this program, go to <http://udts.dbq.edu/academics/educationforlaity/>

Participants benefit from a theological education, including interaction with faculty and other students via distance education. An online learning certification course is required for all students who wish to take online courses in this program. A letter of completion will be given for each course completed. Students may also apply for C.E.U.'s (Continuing Education Units). These courses do not carry degree credit.

Students who complete all eight of the C.L.P. courses are eligible to walk in commencement each May.

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary is not a certification agency for ministry. As with ordained ministry, lay ministry is certified or commissioned through the individual's denominational judicatory (Presbytery, Church and Ministry Committee, or Local Church, depending on denominational background). U.D.T.S. does, however, certify the completion of courses.

Denominational Tables Lunch Program

Every Monday during the semester, students, faculty, and staff are invited to meet in their respective denominational groups for food, fellowship, and conversation about issues of importance to their respective traditions. These gatherings help support students in their seminary journey and their preparation for ministry within their own traditions. The three groups also meet together regularly for an interdenominational luncheon to explore topics of common interest or to participate in dialogue with the seminary Dean.

The Westminster Tables provides a forum for fellowship and discussion of current issues in the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). Examples of such topics are reports on worship and business at the P.C.(U.S.A.) General Assembly, exploration of denominational missions and programs, and support in the denominational preparation process. For weeks in which topics of interest to the wider church and fellowship are scheduled, Westminster Tables meets in conjunction with the Gathering of Other Denominations (GOOD) Tables.

The Wesley Table provides the United Methodist students a place in which community is enhanced while denominational issues and concerns are explored. Guest speakers from United Methodist churches, districts, and conferences help students connect with church leaders while strengthening their understanding of the denomination as a whole.

The Gathering of Other Denominations (GOOD) table is composed of all other students. Over the years, this group has included men and women from the United Church of Christ, the American Baptist Church, the Reformed Church in America, the Assemblies of God, the Christian Reformed Church, and the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches.

United Methodist Studies Program

Many U.D.T.S. students are preparing for a ministry in the United Methodist Church or another denomination within the Wesleyan tradition. As part of their seminary education, these students receive approved instruction in United Methodist history, doctrine and polity.

Wesley Table is one of the primary components of the United Methodist Studies Program. This is a weekly lunchtime gathering of Methodist students and faculty for food and discussion. During these gatherings, the Wesleyan tradition is celebrated and embodied.

Courses which are ordinarily required for United Methodist Conference membership and ordination are listed under Denominational Requirements in the description of the M.Div. program requirements. They are taught on a rotating basis, usually during the January Residency.

The seminary has enjoyed the endorsement of the University Senate of the United Methodist Church since 1972 for residential studies. U.D.T.S. has a long history of ecumenical cooperation, and United Methodists continue to be active participants in the community.

Wendt Character Initiative

The Wendt Character Initiative, founded in 2004 at the University of Dubuque, promotes a culture of excellent moral character, centering its work in the University's Mission and Values and its Christian identity. It is made possible by the endowed Lester G. Wendt and Michael Lester Wendt Character Initiative Fund.

Character is about excellence as a whole human being in every aspect of one's life. It is about being the best person that one can be. It is, in short, to be all that God created us to be—excellent persons. The Wendt Character Initiative, in particular, aims to help students, faculty and staff at the University of Dubuque become people of integrity, justice and compassion.

- People of integrity whose lives are characterized by truthfulness, honesty, and stewardship;
- People of justice who treat all people fairly, respect diversity, and practice Christian love;
- People of compassion who live by the Golden Rule in service of others.

The Wendt Center for Character Education has responsibility for oversight of the Initiative including the Wendt Character Scholars Program, the Michael Lester Wendt Lectures, the Wendt Library Collection, and Faculty Project Support.

Summer Programs

Each summer the Schools of Theology in Dubuque offer intensive courses in Biblical Greek, both residentially and online. The summer language program takes place through Wartburg Seminary and credits earned transfer easily to U.D.T.S. transcripts.

U.D.T.S. offers Distance Master's classes during the summer. Regular offerings include courses required by the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and other Reformed denominations. Many students find these an excellent preparation for ordination exams. From time to time, other summer courses are also available through the Schools of Theology in Dubuque. They must be paid for as summer courses.

Many students utilize the summer months for service in Supervised Practice of Ministry (S.P.M.) positions (see Supervised Practice of Ministry or the Field Education webpage or in Clinical Pastoral Education (C.P.E.). S.P.M. and summer internships are available across the United States and often pay a stipend, as well as being a source of credit toward degree program requirements. Summer S.P.M. and C.P.E. courses must be registered and paid for as summer courses.

SERVICES

Academic Success Center

An advantage of the seminary's relationship with the larger university is access to the Academic Success Center. The Center is equipped to provide instruction for both residential and online students through individualized tutoring. Incoming classes are provided an introduction to the Academic Success Center staff and resources. Faculty members regularly encourage students to work with specialists in the center in growing their skills in study and writing.

Persons with Disabilities

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary provides facilities which are accessible to persons with disabilities. The institution will take the means necessary to ensure that no qualified person with disabilities is denied the benefits of, excluded from participation in, or otherwise subjected to discrimination because the facilities are physically inaccessible to or unusable by persons with disabilities. Because scheduling classes and arranging housing in accessible facilities may require advanced planning, students with disabilities who have been accepted for admission should identify themselves no later than three months prior to the start of the semester in which they begin classes and indicate what accommodations and assistance they may need.

If you would like more information on academic accommodations inquiries, please contact the disability services coordinator. For housing accommodation inquiries, please contact the director of housing.

Orientation and the Foundations of Theological Education Course

Our online and on-campus orientation provides the new student an overview of the University of Dubuque, relationship building within the community, information on services and facilities, and an introduction to the faculty, advisor, and curriculum. New students are enrolled in the four-week, summer co-curricular course "Foundations of Theological Education" which prepares them for theological and online study, and is a pre-requisite for their degree classes. Students who matriculate in spring are enrolled for orientation the following summer. In this class students join classmates and explore brief videos, readings and exercises on topics such as graduate studies, financial preparations, and technology skills. For those students who are required or able to attend the August residency, orientation concludes on campus with two and a half days of worship, class building, and completion of enrollment tasks.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student Association and Student Council

Full- and part-time students enrolled in the Master of Divinity, Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship, Master of Arts in Christian Leadership, 3/3 and 3/2 programs, and the Commissioned Lay Pastors programs are regarded as part of the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary Student Association. Fall and spring semester activity fees of degree students fund the Student Association. The governing Student Council (STUCO) is composed of elected representatives from the Student Association including representatives for each degree program and the C.L.P. program. Officers are elected from within the council. Meetings are held monthly via ZOOM teleconferencing. Any Student Association member may attend and speak at Student Council meetings. All students are encouraged to participate by serving and engaging in programs and ministries. The Student Association convenes at least annually in conjunction with the August residency, and voting, such as for STUCO representatives, is conducted in person and online. The Student Council provides financial support for the Food Pantry, worship and retreat events, residency lunch fellowship, student representation at conferences of invitation or interest, a coordinator for the Food Pantry, an editor for the seminary weekly Good News, Wesley and Westminster programs in fall and spring, and the annual spring Awards Banquet.

The University of Dubuque Food Pantry

As a mission to the many university students who have inadequate nutritious food, the Student Council supports and manages the campus food pantry. The coordinator is hired by STUCO, arranges purchase of food from a local food pantry, and trains and schedules volunteers from various campus groups such as the V.A. students and Physicians Assistants. A satellite food closet has been opened at the airport for Aviation students. The food is purchased through designated donations and offerings.

Placement

The seminary endeavors to assist its students in locating a call to ministry at the time of graduation. The Office of Field Education and Placement posts information on placement opportunities on the Moodle Community Life page, and also assists with resume writing, interview preparation, and vocational counseling. Most graduates of Dubuque Seminary serve as pastors for congregations. Graduates also serve as military or institutional chaplains (such as hospital, hospice, or prison ministry), youth ministers, educators, coaches, new church planters, and social ministers.

WORSHIP AND SPIRITUAL LIFE

Worship and Student Activities

The Student Council and the Pastor to Student's office collaborate to provide opportunities within the student body for learning, service, worship and fellowship. Particular foci are selected each semester, and are accessible to students regardless of platform. Examples of these include mission teams sent to the Dominican Republic; a three week teleconferencing study on the Belhar Confession and overcoming racism; reading retreats; sending students to conferences on Millennials or Gun Violence; or a 24 hour Lenten Prayer Vigil observed across the country and in virtual connection with U.D. worship leaders.

Spiritual life is an indispensable component of Christian community life and seminary education. The curriculum, chapel services, seminary retreats, prayer groups, and personal devotions all combine to cultivate the spiritual life. Weekly chapel services are streamed live at 11:00 a.m. on Mondays, and all students are encouraged to contribute to worship through their gifts either in conference call planning or worship leadership. The community recognizes and celebrates its diverse denominational traditions through the use of liturgical resources, distinct preaching styles, and exposure to a variety of worship practices. Faculty and students who have completed work in preaching are encouraged to preach, and all students, faculty and staff are urged to make offerings through song, liturgy, planning. Communion is celebrated once or twice per month. For students on campus, Morning Prayer is held at 8:30 a.m. Mondays, and Evening Prayer at 4:15 p.m. On Sunday evenings the "Impact" campus worshipping community offers a service of Word and Praise at 5:30 followed by supper for all. Retreats are offered several times a year - near Dubuque, in cluster locations such as central Florida, and through "virtual retreats" such as a STUCO sponsored spring retreat equipping each student with devotional gifts to be enjoyed in concert prior to Holy Week.

In addition to seminary-initiated programs, the Seminary Pastor to Students works with the seminary Student Council to connect seminarians with student organizations in the wider university. In the past the seminary has joined in for special activities with groups such as the Black Student Union, Better Together (interfaith service group), the Asian M.B.A. cohort, and the Physician's Assistant students.

Disciple Formation

"Learn the unforced rhythms of grace." As part of its core curriculum, U.D.T.S. has a vision of unifying a life of prayer, study and service. This vision is exemplified by two-year sequence of four courses that instruct and encourage students to inhabit, both personally and communally, a rhythm of spiritual practices that have shaped disciples over the centuries. In providing patterns and practices for nurturing a life of discipleship intimacy with Jesus Christ and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit, the courses help students surround their seminary studies with prayer, deepen their skills of theological reflection, develop vocational holiness, and form lives of service grounded in Christ's work of grace. Intentional disciple formation also takes place in the context of mentoring during Supervised Practice of Ministry.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY (D.Min.)

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary Doctor of Ministry degree program is focused on congregational renewal and the leadership role of the pastor. It is normally based in the local congregation and attempts to identify concrete leadership tools and strategies for the pastor, rooted in the classical theological disciplines of the church.

Congregational Renewal: The Pastor as Leader

In order to serve the one God – Father, Son, and Holy Spirit – and form God's people for servant leadership in ministry and mission, the D.Min. curriculum will enable students to:

- Define "congregational revitalization" and show evidence of renewal within their particular ministry setting;
- Think theologically by integrating learning from the classical disciplines (Bible, history, theology, and ministry) into the life of the local congregations;
- Identify and address significant theological and social issues in their congregations as well as within the church catholic;
- Develop lay congregational leaders by identifying and nurturing leadership gifts and skills within the congregation and by demonstrating the function of these lay gifts/skills in congregational revitalization.

In these ways the seminary seeks to strengthen the ministry of experienced pastors and to promote the revitalization of congregations. Through this process the seminary will continue to advance the ministry and mission of the Church of Jesus Christ.

Degree Program requirements

Each entering class becomes a cohort group that will remain together throughout the duration of the program. Normally two faculty members organize and provide the leadership for the three years of seminar work. Additional resource persons may be invited to share as appropriate. The three-year program consists of three one-week seminars, online interaction in the spring and fall semesters equivalent to a second residential week, and a doctoral project. Both pre- and post-residential work is required for the seminars. Courses are held in late May on the U.D.T.S. campus.

Students must maintain continuous registration in the D.Min. program until completion of the degree, ordinarily in four or five years. The maximum time allowed for completion of the program is six years. The D.Min. program requires the completion of 40 credit hours for graduation: 30 credit hours of course work and 10 credit hours for the doctoral project. Only work receiving a grade of B or higher will count toward graduation requirements.

COMPONENTS OF THE PROGRAM

Faculty-led Cohort Groups

Two faculty members normally form the leadership team for the cohort group. They design the curriculum, provide the majority of teaching, create the reading list, and evaluate seminar papers. Additional faculty may be brought into the seminars to provide modules addressing specific topics or issues. The seminars presume faculty and students each bring knowledge and wisdom to the dialogue.

Pre- and post-seminar online interaction and self-directed learning

In addition to the faculty-student interaction, each seminar includes two additional components: pre- and post-seminar work. The pre-seminar work consists of readings or special projects which are completed prior to the on-site seminar. Post-seminar work includes specific written projects which integrate reading, seminar work, and the experience of ministry in the student's ministry setting.

Peer learning

The cohort group structure creates a unique and consistent support community that continues throughout the program. Peer learning creates an added dimension of community support and understanding that often continues well beyond the program, even throughout the rest of a student's life.

Congregational resource team and faculty learning team

The congregational resource team offers the congregation a vital connection to the program. Constituted in the first year of the program, this team agrees to work with the pastor for the duration of the D.Min. program. Team members help the student explore ideas and become a membership core concerned with renewal in the congregation. To the extent that the resource team remains active and engaged, it creates an ongoing learning environment for the student.

The faculty learning team provides instruction and leadership throughout the program. In addition, the faculty assists individual students in developing a doctoral proposal for a project and provides support for students while in the program. The intent is to create a learning environment characterized by nurture, study, devotion, and discipline, one that encourages the student to become a more faithful and effective pastor.

Doctoral project

The capstone of the D.Min. program is the doctoral project. The purpose of the doctoral project is to provide students with the opportunity to address a particular issue in ministry and offer new insights which contribute to pastoral effectiveness.

Two possible options for the doctoral project include a Ministry Focus Paper or a D.Min. Thesis.

Ministry Focus Paper. Students may choose to write a publishable Ministry Focus Paper, which combines a theology of ministry with a strategy for ministry. As such, it is focused in a congregational setting and deals with context, theory, strategy, and guidelines in order to produce more effective ministry in a particular locale.

D.Min. Thesis. Students may choose to write a publishable thesis that combines investigation of some aspect of the tradition of the church (biblical, theological, historical, pastoral) and its implications for congregational renewal today.

Project Colloquy

All students are required to participate in the annual Doctor of Ministry Colloquy before receiving their degree. The colloquy is an opportunity to present the Ministry Focus Paper or D.Min. Thesis to faculty, students, and guests of the seminary community, and to discuss the implications of the project. The D.Min. colloquy is ordinarily scheduled during the week prior to commencement.

CURRICULAR DIVISIONS IN MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAMS

The seminary curricula are organized into three divisions (Bible, History/Theology, and Ministry), Supervised Practice of Ministry/Field Education, and interdisciplinary courses.

Bible Division

Courses in the biblical area of study impart a broad and deep knowledge of the Bible – both the Old and New Testaments – so that U.D.T.S. graduates are able to faithfully interpret the Scriptures for the proclamation of the Good News in church and world, and so they can discover in the Word God's empowerment for ministry, mission, and personal spiritual growth. The Bible division envisions Christian leaders who are formed by, live in, and minister out of Scripture.

More specifically, students who successfully complete the courses in Bible required for the degree programs will be able to:

- Minister out of a foundational knowledge of biblical culture and literature
- Engage the methods of biblical interpretation
- Exegete biblical texts using various literary, historical, and linguistic tools, including the ancient languages
- Articulate the essential message of salvation in Scripture, and explore the depths and nuances of that message
- Apply, in their teaching and preaching, the words of Scripture in specific modern contexts; and
- Recognize the ways Scripture functions authoritatively as God's Word to the Church, and delight in the Bible's proclamation of God's love.

History/Theology Division

The division of History/Theology offers courses intended to contribute to the effective practice of Christian ministry and mission. The objectives of the courses in the History/Theology Division are:

- To develop a sympathetic grasp of the history and core commitments of the Christian tradition in order to be an effective teacher and practitioner of the Christian faith;
- To develop the ability to engage critically and constructively with the contents of the Christian tradition for the sake of growing faith and effective mission and ministry; and
- To nurture an appreciative understanding of the rich diversity of the catholic faith and the expressions of that faith in various cultural, historical and geographical contexts toward the end of forming and nurturing vital faith communities in new contextual settings.

Ministry Division

The Ministry division seeks to help students develop a capacity to comprehend theories for the practice of ministry, a capacity to develop skills necessary for pastoral tasks, and the capacity to integrate these two. In this way, students begin to devise and articulate a pastoral theology.

The goals included in the successful completion of the required ministry courses for the degree programs are:

- To provide knowledge and experiences of the worship and prayer of the people of God;
- To provide knowledge of, and significant practice in, the ministry of proclamation;
- To provide skills and capabilities in the discipling, evangelistic, pastoral and governance dimensions of the church's task; and
- To help future pastors develop sensitivity to the contexts in which they are leading congregations.

SUPERVISED PRACTICE OF MINISTRY (S.P.M)/FIELD EDUCATION (F.E.)

Supervised Practice of Ministry (S.P.M.) and Field Education Courses (F.E.) are integral parts of the U.D.T.S. curriculum. The S.P.M. settings and F.E. courses provide numerous opportunities for seminary students to integrate theological reflection and pastoral leadership practice. At the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary, S.P.M. is viewed as a formative experience where each student, with the guidance and support of faculty, trained supervisors, and committed laity, can develop the skills and capacities for a life of joyful service to Christ.

Three credits of Supervised Practice of Ministry plus three credits for the completion of the three Field Education Courses are required for the Master of Divinity Degree.

One credit of Supervised Practice of Ministry plus one credit in a Field Education course is required for the Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship degree.

The Supervised Practice of Ministry requirements may be fulfilled through placements during the academic year or summer or through longer internships. M. Div. students may register for S.P.M. only after their first full year of study. S.P.M. must be undertaken in an approved setting and must include at least six supervisory conversations over the course of the term. Evaluations are provided by supervisors, lay committees and students themselves. In completing the three credit S.P.M. requirement, students focus on areas of pastoral ministry such as preaching, visitation, teaching, counseling, or evangelism. One credit of Supervised Practice of Ministry may be earned through participation in Clinical Pastoral Education (C.P.E.). Normally, at least two credits of Supervised Practice must be earned in a parish setting. A maximum of 9 credit hours in S.P.M./F.E. may be taken in the Master of Divinity program.

The S.P.M. placements and F.E. Courses will enable students to:

- Develop the capacity for integrating theological reflection and the practice of Christian ministry;
- Develop skills and capacities for faithful and joyful Christian ministry; and
- Develop a holistic understanding of the pastoral vocation wherein ministry, relationships, personal spirituality, and self-care are held in a creative and faithful balance.

For more information, see the Field Education webpage.

MASTER OF DIVINITY (M.Div.) DEGREE

The Master of Divinity is the first professional degree for those seeking ordination. When pursued on a full-time basis, the distance and residential programs may be completed in four academic years, with an option for distance learners to complete the program in three years. The distance M.Div. program, which operates on a cohort model, can be earned by coming to the Dubuque campus for only two weeks a year. This fully-accredited degree is offered as an approved exception to the ATS Degree Program Standard A, section A.3.1.3 and Standard B, section B.3.1.3.

To complete the program on schedule, both residential and distance M.Div. students are encouraged to begin their studies in August.

Curriculum

In order to serve the one God – Father, Son, and Holy Spirit - and form God’s people for servant leadership in ministry and mission, the M.Div. curriculum will enable students to:

- Nurture habits and disciplines of study, prayer and reflection that increase their love of God and neighbor and shape their personal and professional lives;
- Be formed by, live in, and minister out of Scripture and the historical and theological tradition of the church;
- Interpret the Christian Scriptures through faithful exegesis and in light of the Christian tradition;
- Preach the Word of God with faithfulness and clarity;
- Lead worship and administer the sacraments with theological integrity and to the glory of God;
- Engage contemporary theological and ethical issues with insight and humility;
- Evangelize the world with faithfulness and contextual sensitivity;
- Educate and equip individuals and congregations to live and minister joyfully and faithfully as part of their own denomination and the ecumenical church;
- Provide pastoral care for individuals and congregations in daily life and moments of transition and crisis;
- Lead and nurture congregations to promote peace and justice in the public arena and encourage the witness and service of the church in mission to the world; and
- Integrate theology and practice in all areas of life and ministry.

Master of Divinity Course Requirements

The Master of Divinity curriculum integrates theological studies with the practice of ministry to nurture faithful and effective Christian leaders. Students in the Master of Divinity program are required to complete 75 credit hours. A cumulative grade-point average of 2.0 is required for graduation. In addition, M.Div. students are required to successfully complete core courses in the three divisions of the seminary curriculum – Bible, History/Theology and Ministry – and S.P.M. and interdisciplinary courses. These include:

Bible Division

- God's Word: the Old Testament
- God's Word: the New Testament
- Interpreting the New Testament: Exegesis (Greek or English)
- Interpreting the Old Testament: Exegesis (Hebrew or English)
- Bible Elective, including biblical languages

History/Theology Division

- The Growth of the Church: Early and Medieval Church History
- Renewal, Expansion, Fragmentation: Reformation and Modern Church History
- What Christians Believe: Christian Doctrine I
- What Christians Believe: Christian Doctrine II

Ministry Division

- Making Disciples I & II
- Proclaiming the Word
- Leading Christian Worship
- Nurturing Wholeness in Christ: Caregiving I & II

Supervised Practice of Ministry and Field Education Courses

- S.P.M. Internship

- S.P.M. Congregational Internship
- S.P.M. Entrepreneurial Internship
- F.E.: Pastoral Leadership
- F.E.: Leadership Ethics
- F.E.: Leadership in Context

Interdisciplinary

- Disciple Formation I, II, III, and IV
- God's Redemptive Mission
- Gospel in Context
- Starting Missional Communities

A student may propose alternative methods of demonstrating completion of the objectives of core courses, such as passing proficiency examinations in a given subject, writing papers, or successfully transferring courses with similar content completed at other seminaries. All such alternative proposals must be approved in advance by the Director of Seminary Vocation or the Academic and Student Affairs Committee of the faculty. Once matriculated, a student must take all core courses at U.D.T.S. Core courses may not normally be fulfilled through tutorials.

DENOMINATIONAL REQUIREMENTS

In addition to the above degree program requirements, M.Div. students may be required by their denomination to meet further criteria in order to qualify for ordination.

The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) requires that candidates for Minister of Word and Sacrament pass examinations in Bible content, theological competence, worship and sacraments, church polity, and Bible exegesis. Presbyterian students are subject to the requirements of the current Presbyterian Book of Order, Part II, Preparation for Ministry, G-2.06.

While the entire M.Div. curriculum prepares students for these exams, the following courses in particular are helpful for Presbyterian students:

- HT 615 Presbyterian History and Confessions
- MN 555 The Polity and Program of the Presbyterian Church (USA)
- MN 709 Worship in the Reformed Tradition
- HT 775 The Theology of John Calvin

Courses in Biblical Greek and Hebrew are required by the denomination, as well as exegetical courses in each of those languages. These language and exegesis requirements will ordinarily be met through the following courses:

- BI 500 Introduction to Biblical Hebrew
- BI 502 Introduction to New Testament Greek
- Any Old Testament Hebrew Exegesis Course
- Any New Testament Greek Exegesis Course

Some presbyteries may require additional courses of their candidates, such as Clinical Pastoral Education (C.P.E.). Presbyterian students are urged to remain in close contact with their presbytery's Committee on Preparation for Ministry (C.P.M.) in order to be aware of such additional requirements. To facilitate the student's relationship with his or her Committee, the student's transcripts and evaluations may be released to the C.P.M. at the Committee's request.

The Field Education office administers ordination examinations required by the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and advises students in their relationship with their C.P.M.

United Methodists

United Methodists are required to study the history, doctrine and polity of the United Methodist Church. These requirements are met through the following courses:

- HT 521 United Methodist Studies: History
- HT 553 United Methodist Studies: Doctrine
- MN 553 United Methodist Studies: Polity

United Methodist students may also need to fulfill additional requirements specified by their annual conferences. For more information about opportunities for United Methodists, please contact the Director of United Methodist Studies.

Other Denominations

Students of other denominations should consult with the Dean or Director of Seminary Vocation to determine how the requirements of their denomination may be met at U.D.T.S. Polity courses for denominations other than the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) or the United Methodist Church may be taken for transfer credit.

Residency Requirements

In addition to the semester-hour and course requirements listed above, M.Div. students are required to:

- Complete at least 15 credit hours in residency at U.D.T.S.
- Complete a minimum of 18 credits hours of classroom courses taught by U.D.T.S. faculty members, with at least six of those hours in each of the three divisions of the curriculum. Core courses may be counted toward this part of the residency requirement.

Recommended Course Sequences for the Completion of the M.Div.

When pursued on a full-time basis, the distance and residential programs may be completed in four academic years, with an option for distance learners to complete the program in three years. To complete the program on schedule, both residential and distance M.Div. students are encouraged to begin their studies in August, and to follow the recommended course sequence. Since classes are scheduled according to the assumption that all students will follow this sequence, variation from it may result in schedule conflicts leading to delayed completion of the program. Students are also encouraged to communicate regularly with their faculty academic advisors. Students may not register for more than 14 credits per session.

MASTER OF ARTS IN MISSION AND DISCIPLESHIP (M.A.M.D.)

What does it mean to be a faithful follower of Jesus in today's world? How are we called to join God's mission in both our vocation and our avocations? The Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship degree provides you with the opportunity to explore your identity in Christ and your calling to participate in God's mission in the world.

Curriculum

The Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship trains followers of Jesus to empower others to join in God's mission in a variety of callings. The degree provides broad instruction in the Christian heritage (Scripture, theology, church history), in understanding cultural context, and in Christian formation as well as more specialized education in a focused area of Mission and Discipleship.

The M.A.M.D. curriculum will enable students to:

- Articulate and reflect critically and constructively on the biblical and theological foundations of God's mission to the world.
- Develop, implement, and assess strategies for missional living in a specific cultural context.
- Adopt spiritual practices that nurture their personal lives as faithful disciples and witnesses.
- Develop skills and capacities for faithful and competent Christian witness.

M.A.M.D. Degree requirements:

This 40 credit degree program requires two years of full-time academic work residually or via distance education, including a project colloquy. Required courses include:

Bible: 6 credits

History/Theology: 6 credits

Mission/Integrative: 8 credits

Disciple Formation: 1 credit

Field Education:

- FE 602 Leadership In Context (1 credit)
- SPM 671 Supervised Practice of Ministry (1 credit)

Master's Project: 4-credit project related to Mission and Discipleship

Optional Emphasis Areas:

- Church, Culture and Innovation
- Young Adult Discipleship
- Transformational Christian Leadership
- Congregational Ministry

Residency Requirements

Residential M.A.M.D. students are required to complete at least two consecutive semesters in residency at full-time status. 'Residency' is defined as academic work done at U.D.T.S. 'Full-time' is defined as at least nine semester hours. Distance M.A.M.D. students are required to complete at least 9 credit hours in residence as a U.D.T.S. student, which can be completed during two August residencies.

Recommended Course Sequence for Completing the M.A.M.D. in Two Years

All M.A.M.D. students are urged to pursue courses in one of the sequences linked below. Since classes are scheduled according to the assumption that all students will follow this sequence, variation from it may result in schedule conflicts leading to delayed completion of the program. Students may not register for more than 14 credits per semester.

MASTER OF ARTS IN CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP (M.A.C.L.)

This 30-credit online degree is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission (H.L.C.) and administered through the University of Dubuque Graduate Programs. Full time students may earn the degree in one year. Students are enrolled in seminary courses taught by U.D.T.S. faculty, learn alongside seminary students, and participate fully in the life of the seminary. For more information on this degree, click here.

3/3 PROGRAM (SIX-YEAR B.A./M.DIV. DEGREE PROGRAM)

The University of Dubuque enables a person to complete the B.A. and the M.Div. degrees in six years.

The program involves two components:

- Three years of undergraduate study which must include at least one full year (a 30 semester hour residency requirement) in the University of Dubuque undergraduate program, and
- Three years of course work at the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary.

General 3/3 program information:

Applicants to the 3/3 Program may be required to take the ACT.

Applicants must apply to the undergraduate program while simultaneously applying to the seminary. After acceptance from the undergraduate admissions office the applicant is eligible for provisional acceptance to the seminary program. The application process is separate for each program. In the student's senior year s/he must formally apply to the seminary for admission.

A condition of acceptance is denominational endorsement (the seminary requires a letter from the appropriate church official acknowledging that the 3/3 Program is an acceptable track for the applicant).

Students may transfer no more than two years (64 semester hours) of undergraduate work and no seminary work to the 3/3 Program.

It is recommended that 3/3 students major in one of the humanities or social sciences.

Normally students in this program may not enroll in seminary courses until they have completed 92 undergraduate credits (including most core courses and major requirements). Undergraduate students may not enroll in more than 25 semester hours of seminary work before completion of the bachelor's degree.

Up to 25 semester hours of seminary courses will count toward the 120 credit hours required for the bachelor's degree.

These same 25 semester hours will count toward the 75 credits required for the M.Div. degree.

Tuition will be charged at the undergraduate rate until the requirements for the bachelor's degree are completed. Credits earned after the completion of the bachelor's degree will be charged at the seminary rate.

Financial aid will be determined according to the undergraduate policy until completion of the bachelor's degree.

Undergraduate students must be in good academic standing in order to enroll in seminary classes.

Official acceptance to the seminary is based on application to the seminary by Dec. 1 of the year prior to seminary matriculation, updated letters of reference, and an acceptable undergraduate record.

Persons admitted to the 3/3 Program are eligible for either undergraduate or seminary housing.

3/2 PROGRAM (FIVE-YEAR B.A./M.A.M.D. DEGREE PROGRAM)

The University of Dubuque also offers a 3/2 program, an accelerated B.A./M.A.M.D. program, to qualified students. The same regulations pertain as in the 3/3 program, with the exception that students spend only two years in the seminary, and earn the M.A.M.D. degree instead of the M.Div. degree.

General 3/2 program information:

Applicants to the 3/2 Program may be required to take the ACT.

Applicants must apply to the undergraduate program while simultaneously applying to the seminary. After acceptance from the undergraduate admissions office the applicant is eligible for provisional acceptance to the seminary program. The application process is separate for each program. In the student's senior year s/he must formally apply to the seminary for admission.

Students may transfer no more than two years (64 semester hours) of undergraduate work and no seminary work to the 3/2 Program.

After the completion of at least 64 semester hours of undergraduate studies (which should include most core courses and major requirements) students in this program may begin taking certain seminary courses. However, undergraduate students may not enroll in more than 25 semester hours of seminary work before completion of the bachelor's degree.

Up to 25 semester hours of seminary courses will count toward the 120 credit hours required for the bachelor's degree.

These same 25 semester hours will count toward the 40 credits required for the M.A.M.D. degree.

Tuition will be charged at the undergraduate rate until the requirements for the bachelor's degree are completed. Credits earned after the completion of the bachelor's degree will be charged at the seminary rate.

Financial aid will be determined according to the undergraduate policy until completion of the bachelor's degree.

Undergraduate students must be in good academic standing in order to enroll in seminary classes.

Official acceptance to the seminary is based on application to the seminary by Dec. 1 of the year prior to seminary matriculation, updated letters of reference, and an acceptable undergraduate record.

Persons admitted to the 3/2 Program are eligible for either undergraduate or seminary housing.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

STUDENT CLASSIFICATIONS

Students in the M.Div. program are classified as juniors, middlers, or seniors. Juniors are those who have completed fewer than 26 semester hours. Middlers are those who have completed 26 to 50 semester hours. Seniors are those who have completed at least 50 semester hours.

Students in the M.A.M.D. program are classified as juniors or seniors. M.A.M.D. juniors are those who have completed fewer than 20 semester hours. M.A.M.D. Seniors are those who have completed at least 20 semester hours.

Unclassified students are those who are taking U.D.T.S. courses, but who are not enrolled in a degree program (see Unclassified Students in the Terms and Procedures for Admission section).

FACULTY ADVISORS

Upon matriculation to the M.Div. or M.A.M.D. degree program, each student is assigned a faculty advisor by the Director of Seminary Vocation. Student preferences as to choice of advisor and proposed academic interests are taken into consideration. Students admitted to the college/seminary cooperative 3/3 or 3/2 program are assigned an undergraduate program advisor by the college at the time of matriculation. A seminary faculty advisor is assigned when the student matriculates in the seminary. After one year, a student may make a request for a different faculty advisor to be assigned by the Director of Seminary Vocation.

U.D.T.S. faculty members are scholars who are also pastor-teachers. The advisor guides and encourages the student with reference to the student's academic program. The advisor assists in building ties within the community and seeks to encourage and facilitate the individual development of the student.

The advisor assists the student in translating vocations into educational goals and programs, engaging in self-evaluation, and cultivating the ability to recognize strengths.

REGISTRATION

All students register for classes online, following a consultation with their faculty advisor. MyUD enables students to register for classes and check course grades. While the student/advisor consultation is an important part of this process, the student is ultimately responsible for making certain s/he has fulfilled all curricular requirements prior to the anticipated graduation date. Students must be in good financial standing with the university in order to register for classes.

New students register for courses during orientation. Returning students must register for the following semester's courses during the announced registration period.

CROSS-REGISTRATION

Students who are registered for U.D.T.S. residential degree programs have the option of cross-registering for courses offered by Wartburg Theological Seminary, up to a maximum of 6 credit hours per semester. With the approval of the Dean, students may also register for graduate courses at the University of Dubuque. With the approval of their advisor and the Dean of the Seminary, students may request permission of the Academic and Student Affairs Committee to register for upper-level undergraduate courses at the University of Dubuque that are applicable to their U.D.T.S. program. In such an instance, the Committee will require the professor of the undergraduate course to submit a description of the ways course requirements will be augmented to meet graduate expectations.

DROPPING AND ADDING COURSES

In the fall and spring session II semesters, the drop/add period ends at 5 p.m. on the tenth day of classes. In August and January session I residencies, the drop/add period ends at the end of the second day of the residency. Dates of the drop/add periods of the current academic year are listed on the academic calendar.

There is no fee for dropping or adding classes up to the end of the drop/add period, provided the registration process has been completed.

If a student does not attend a residential class or does not log in to an online class in the first ten days of classes, that student will be automatically dropped from the course and no record of the registration of that course will remain on the student's record. If a student does attend a residential class or log in to an online class in the first ten days of classes, that student may drop the class through the tenth day of class and no record of the registration will remain on the student's record. Beyond the tenth day of class, the student who did begin a class will have the option to withdraw from the class and a W will be recorded on the student's record if the action is completed prior to the expiration of the class withdrawal period. In no case may a student appeal for a withdrawal from class beyond the fourth week of the following semester.

If the dropping of classes reduces the student's credit load below a full-time or half-time standing threshold, this may have an impact on scholarships or federal loans.

MAXIMUM COURSE LOAD

Students are not ordinarily permitted to register for more than 14 credit hours per session II semester or 5 credit hours in August or January session I residencies.

Proficiency courses are not counted in this total. Exceptions to this maximum load restriction may be granted only by the Dean of the Seminary or the Academic and Student Affairs Committee. Students employed for 20 or more hours a week may not register for more than 14 credits.

AUDIT POLICY

The term audit refers to a formal arrangement by which a student agrees to attend a course regularly, either in person or online, yet without receiving academic credit. Students are always required to obtain the instructor's permission and register for the course. Students may only elect the audit option until the end of the drop/add period. The total number of auditors in a given course will not normally be permitted to exceed 10 percent of the course's enrollment.

Individuals not currently enrolled at U.D.T.S. must complete the application process for unclassified student status and be admitted. Current students must register for an audit using the normal registration process.

Individuals may audit residential or distance classes on a space-available basis with the permission of the dean and the course instructor. The cost of auditing courses is one-half the regular credit hour rate and is non-refundable after the end of the drop/add period. Audit students who have never taken classes through Moodle will be required to pay for and complete the Online Learning Certification (O.L.C.) course before auditing an online class. Continuing Education Units (C.E.U.s) are available for audit students upon request.

Given the highly interactive nature of online learning, students auditing distance courses may be expected to participate in class activities such as discussion forums. Instructors will determine the acceptable level of participation. Successful completion of the course will be recorded on the student's transcript as audit credit. Failure to complete audit requirements will result in a W for the course.

EARNING CREDITS

Advanced Standing

Occasionally, students in U.D.T.S. degree programs may have completed coursework at an accredited institution equivalent to the material covered in a U.D.T.S. core course or a course which is a prerequisite for another U.D.T.S. course. In such a case, the student may apply to the appropriate professor through the Director of Seminary Vocation to have advanced standing declared – in effect, to have the core course or prerequisite requirement waived. An advanced standing judgment does not carry academic credit, nor does it reduce the number of hours required for graduation; it allows the student to substitute an elective course for the core course, or, in the case of a prerequisite situation, to proceed directly to the course for which the course in question is a prerequisite. The Director of Seminary Vocation in consultation with the appropriate professor may require students applying for advanced standing to submit appropriate documentation of study previously completed. Normally, applications for advanced standing should be submitted by the end of the first semester of attendance. Advanced standing can be granted only on the basis of coursework completed at an accredited institution, and not on the basis of testing. Advanced standing differs from proficiency credit and transfer credit (see Proficiency Credit and Transfer Credit below).

Proficiency Credit

Proficiency credit is an option available to students who, independently of academic course structures, have learned material corresponding to a 500 level course in the Bible or History/Theology Divisions. Such students may request that the instructor who normally teaches the course evaluate their knowledge and, if it proves satisfactory, grant them credit for the course. Proficiency differs from advanced standing in that it results in credit granted by examination, for studies other than course work in an accredited seminary or graduate school (see Transfer Credit and Advanced Standing).

To apply for proficiency credit, students must obtain a proficiency evaluation form from the Registrar's office and complete the appropriate sections prior to taking the examination. Once the instructor has evaluated the student's work, the proficiency credit is recorded on the student's transcript by the registrar. Students must receive a grade of C or better on the proficiency exam in order to receive proficiency credit. The fee for receiving credit for a course by proficiency is ordinarily one-half of the current per credit hour rate and must be paid before the test is administered.

Regardless of the grade earned on the exam, the grade will be recorded on a student's transcript and affect the GPA. Maximum course load regulations do not apply to proficiency courses since the student does not register for such credit in the usual manner or within semester time limits. No more than one-fourth of the total credits required for a degree may be granted through proficiency credit (M.Div. – 18 credits, M.A.M.D. – 10 credits). D.Min. students do not qualify for proficiency credit.

The instructor of a proficiency course will evaluate a student's knowledge or skills in whatever way and to whatever extent guarantees that the student's proficiency is equivalent to that expected in the regular course. A copy of the student's examination paper must be filed in the Registrar's office with the evaluation report.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit may be granted for work done at other accredited seminaries, or in exceptional cases, graduate schools. Transfer credit is listed on the student's transcript by course title, semester hours transferred, and grade. Only courses with a grade of C or better will be considered for credit. Only credits earned within the last 10 years will be considered for transfer. Field education hours will be evaluated according to the number of units of field education completed at the previous seminary. The degree requirements of both U.D.T.S. and the previous seminary will be compared to determine the equivalent number of field education transfer hours. Field education transfer hours will be designated with CR (for credit) if a letter grade was given at the previous seminary. (Ordinarily, only one half of the Field Education requirements will be transferable.)

Transfer credit differs from advanced standing in that it results in the entering of semester hours on a student's transcript; advanced standing does not affect semester hour totals, but rather eliminates certain area or prerequisite requirements. Both transfer credit and advanced standing may be awarded for the same course (see Advanced Standing). Transfer credit differs from proficiency credit in that it is granted for regular course work; proficiency credit is for work completed in non-traditional ways, and requires a tuition payment and examination (see Proficiency Credit).

In the case of a student who has been granted a degree by another seminary, no more than one-half of the credits required for the prior degree will transfer to a U.D.T.S. degree program.

In no case shall a student in the M.Div. degree program at U.D.T.S. complete fewer than 25 semester hours at U.D.T.S., and no fewer than 20 semester hours in the M.A.M.C. degree program.

In exceptional cases, transfer credit may be granted for graduate work completed at an unaccredited seminary or in another field of graduate study. Each of these courses to be considered for transfer credit will be evaluated and approved by the Director of Seminary Vocation. Courses are evaluated in light of the course content and its relevancy to the program emphasis of U.D.T.S., the appropriateness of the reading list, the nature of the course procedures including the number of contact hours, and the basis of evaluation (paper, exams, etc.). Ordinarily, no more than six semester hours of such credit, and in no case more than 12 credits shall be transferred.

Transfer credit hours for courses taken at another accredited seminary will be evaluated and awarded through the Director of Seminary Vocation and the appropriate faculty member(s). Credit will be recorded by the Registrar's Office. Appeals may be directed to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee of the faculty.

Individual Study Projects

Individual study projects are special projects pursued under the direction of a seminary faculty member in subject areas not normally offered in the seminary curriculum. Individual study projects require the consent of the instructor and the approval of the Dean.

A contract for an individual study project, available at the Dean's Office, must be completed and signed by the student and the instructor and approved by the Dean before registration may take place and work on the project may commence. Such a contract must be completed for each individual study project.

Individual study projects are flexible in form and content. They may make use of a wide variety of academic pursuits, such as directed reading, in-depth research or field-based experimentation. Such projects are designated for a specific number of semester hours and may be pursued in either session of the fall or spring semester or in the summer. Although individualized, such projects are not independent: they require faculty supervision and grading as well as prior approval from the Dean in order for the student to earn academic credit.

The initiative for an individual study project belongs to the student who has responsibility for identifying a seminary faculty member with relevant expertise who is willing to supervise the student's work. The choice of topic belongs to the student. The number of academic credits, standards of performance, methods of evaluation and final grading are the prerogative of the faculty supervisor. The learning contract must include appropriate student learning outcomes and degree curricular goals. All details concerning these matters are to be specified in advance as part of the proposal in the learning contract. The Dean will approve the contract only if the student's proposal demonstrates that the number of semester hours to be awarded is comparable to that earned in regular listed courses of similar subject area and difficulty.

A maximum of 12 semester hours may be earned in individual study projects during the student's M.Div. course of study. A maximum of 6 semester hours, exclusive of the M.A.M.D. project, may be earned in individual study projects during a student's M.A.M.D. course of study. Exceptions to these limits may be granted only by the Academic and Student Affairs Committee. The maximum number of individual study projects any faculty member may supervise during a given year is two.

Individual study projects are considered as regular courses for registration purposes, and therefore must be completed by the last day of the term in which they have been registered, unless an extension has been granted by the Academic and Student Affairs Committee. Individual study projects completed in the summer must be paid for as summer courses. Individual study projects will be assessed in the same manner as other courses, including the use of student evaluation forms and faculty course assessment forms. Assessment of individual study projects will be periodically reviewed by the faculty.

Tutorials

Tutorials are regular U.D.T.S. courses listed in the catalog which are pursued on an individual basis under the supervision of a faculty member. They differ from individual study projects in that they are not custom-designed, but are rather identical in content to regularly offered courses.

Tutorials require the consent of the instructor and the approval of the Dean. A contract for a tutorial course, available at the Dean's office, must be completed and signed by the student and the instructor, and is required before registration may take place and work on the project may commence. Such a contract must be prepared for each tutorial.

The Dean will approve a tutorial course only if it can be demonstrated that the student has a legitimate reason for being unable to take the course at the usual time. Students are not normally allowed to take a tutorial course during the same semester when the course is being offered. Tutorials count toward the maximum number of Individual Study Projects listed under that section. Tutorials completed in the summer must be paid for as summer courses. Core course requirements may not normally be fulfilled through tutorials.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Grading

U.D.T.S. courses are graded according to one of two systems: letter grade or pass/fail. The grading system for each course is determined by the instructor and is indicated on the course description available to students prior to registration. The instructor may designate either one of the two systems or may give students the option of electing one or the other system at registration. In cases in which an option is available, students may change their choice of grading system only until the last day to withdraw noted on the academic calendar. Letter grades are based on the following criteria:

A= the student analyzes underlying themes/issues/ideas in ways that organize material comprehensively and explore implications deeply, concretely and imaginatively. This work clearly goes beyond being accurate and is creative.

B= the student identifies material in an integrated fashion, examines the basic details through comparison and elaboration, and summarizes appropriately. The responses flow smoothly.

C= the student identifies the material with accuracy, but explores generalizations vaguely and examines specifics in a disjointed manner.

D= the student deals only with isolated pieces of material and uses the resources with uncertainty.

F= inappropriate use of sources and a failure to demonstrate the key issues with coherence.

Student grade-point averages are calculated by dividing the total number of grade points by the total number of semester hours for which the student has received either a letter grade or a grade F on a pass/fail basis. In the letter-grade system, the following symbols and grade- point values are used:

A = 4.00	C = 2.00
A- = 3.67	C- = 1.67
B+ = 3.33	D+ = 1.33
B = 3.00	D = 1.00
B- = 2.67	D- = 0.67
C+ = 2.33	F = 0

In the pass/fail system, a grade equivalent to D- or above is recorded as pass, and a grade equivalent to F is recorded as fail. The grade of pass has no grade-point value, and therefore has no effect on the calculation of a student's grade-point average; a fail, on the other hand, has a value of 0 (the same as F) and is calculated in the student's grade-point average.

All core courses are graded according to the letter-grade system only. All Supervised Practice of Ministry and Field Education courses are graded according to the pass/fail system only.

Students pursuing their studies under the supervision of a church governing body, such as a presbytery or conference, are strongly urged to consult their supervising committee to determine whether a pass/fail grading system is acceptable, or whether letter grades are preferred.

Students on academic probation do not have the option of choosing pass/fail grading. A grade of I (incomplete) may be recorded only if the Academic and Student Affairs Committee has granted an extension.

At the conclusion of the extension, the Registrar will change the I (incomplete) grade to the appropriate letter grade or pass/fail designation.

A course dropped after the end of the drop/add period (see Registration) will be graded W (withdrawn). Withdrawal from a course after the final withdrawal date is not permitted. Should a student report withdrawal from a class after that date, a grade of F will be recorded. In no case may a student appeal for withdrawal from class beyond the fourth week of the following full semester.

At the conclusion of each course, the instructor enters appropriate letter or pass/fail grades and they become part of the student transcripts. In no case may a student appeal a final grade for a course beyond the fourth week of the following full semester.

Extension of Course Requirements

It is the policy of the seminary that all course work for all students is due by the last day of the term or by the end of post-load in the case of August or January residencies, unless the instructor has assigned an earlier due date. Requests for extensions beyond the last day of the term must be made to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee through the Director of Seminary Vocation.

Requests for extensions must be made at least one week before the end of the term, or by the end of the first week of post-load in the case of residencies, and must be submitted in accordance with the Academic and Student Affairs Committee extension request form. Such extension requests must state the specific unforeseen circumstances prompting the request. Mismanagement of time will not be considered as a valid mitigating circumstance. Both the student's advisor and the course instructor will be notified of the request and their input will be invited before the committee decision. Absent significant extenuating circumstances, all extensions that are granted will be with a reduction in grade on the outstanding assignment.

Assignment grade reductions for extensions will be assessed on the following scale:

Extensions of Two Weeks or Less –
One letter grade

Extensions of Two Weeks or More –
Two letter grades

Any student who requests two or more extensions for two consecutive semesters will be required to have a conversation with their advisor and the Dean or Director of Seminary Vocation regarding other options (leave of absence, reduction in load, etc.) before further extensions are granted. Any student who requests and receives two or more extensions in a third consecutive semester will be automatically placed on academic probation. All extensions shall be granted for a specific period of time. If the assigned work is not submitted by the extension date granted, a grade of F shall be assigned for that work. Judicatory authorities will be advised concerning extension requests.

Probation

A student whose cumulative grade-point average falls below 2.0 or who receives a grade of F for six or more semester hours in a given semester shall be placed on academic probation. For purposes of determining probation, session I in residence and session II are considered together for both fall and spring semesters (August/fall and January/spring). Students on academic probation do not have the option of choosing pass/fail grading. Students who have attended colleges or universities that are not regionally accredited, or who have a marginal academic record, may be admitted on academic probation.

Students who are on academic probation for two successive semesters may be dismissed from the seminary (see Dismissal below).

In situations in which a student's poor academic performance is the result of unforeseen personal circumstances, the student may make written application to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee to remove probationary status for that semester. Such application must ordinarily be made before the first day of the following semester.

Satisfactory Academic Progress for Academic Purposes

Maintaining Satisfactory Academic Progress for academic purposes of in the seminary and for the purpose of receiving financial aid are related but distinct. For purposes of financial aid, see "Maintaining Satisfactory Academic Progress for Federal and Institutional Aid."

The Maximum allotted time to receive a Doctor of Ministry degree is six years from the point of matriculation. The time limit to receive a Master of Divinity degree is six years from the point of matriculation. The time limit to receive a Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship is three years from the point of matriculation. Exemptions to these limits may only be granted upon petition to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee, through the Director of Seminary Vocation.

Students who do not maintain satisfactory academic progress toward the degree will be placed on probation. Students who do not make satisfactory academic progress for two consecutive semesters are eligible for dismissal.

Satisfactory academic progress will be determined by the following requirements:

Doctor of Ministry: Passing all three residencies in the appropriate year and completing the doctoral project within three years after the final residency.

Master of Divinity: Earning a minimum of nine credits in the fall semester and five credits in the spring semester (with the exception of semesters during which a student has received a leave of absence). For purposes of Satisfactory Academic Progress, session I in residence and session II are considered together for both fall and spring semesters.

Master of Arts in Mission and Discipleship: Earning a minimum of nine credits in the fall semester and five credits in the spring semester (with the exception of semesters during which a student has received a leave of absence). For purposes of Satisfactory Academic Progress, session I in residence and session II are considered together for both fall and spring semesters.

Dismissal

Students may be dismissed from the seminary for one of the following reasons:

- If they have been on academic probation for two successive semesters (see Probation above)
- If their grade-point average has been less than 2.0 for three semesters of their seminary career
- If they have received a grade of F in a total of 12 semester hours of course work
- Three offenses of plagiarism or cheating
- If they fail to make satisfactory academic progress for two consecutive semesters
- If in the opinion of the Dean and of the Academic and Student Affairs Committee the continued participation of the student is prejudicial or potentially injurious to the student or the community

Dismissed students may apply to the faculty for reinstatement by submitting a written request to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee through the Dean. The Academic and Student Affairs Committee is empowered to act on behalf of the faculty in reinstating dismissed students.

ENROLLMENT

Maintaining an Enrolled Status

In order to maintain their enrollment as students at U.D.T.S., students must either register for each semester or obtain a leave of absence (see Leave of Absence).

In the absence of such registration or approved leave, status as a student will cease and the person will be considered as having withdrawn from the seminary (see Withdrawal from the Seminary).

Leave Of Absence

Students who find it necessary to interrupt their seminary program must apply to the Dean for a leave of absence. Leaves of absence will be granted for a specified period of time, after which they may be extended upon the student's request and at the discretion of the Dean. A leave of absence does not alter the time allotment for the various degree programs.

The letter of request should include the reasons for requesting the leave, particular mitigating circumstances, and the length of the leave. In no case shall a leave of absence be for more than one academic year. Factors to be considered in awarding a leave include, but are not limited to, the reasons for the request, expectations of the student's chances for continuing success in the program, and a plan for resuming studies.

Students must either resume their studies by the end of the leave period or must obtain an extension; otherwise, they will be considered as having withdrawn from the seminary and will not be able to return without reapplying for admission. Failure to enroll either for the fall or the spring semester without first obtaining a leave of absence will be considered as withdrawal from the seminary (see Withdrawal from the Seminary).

Doctor of Ministry students who find it necessary to suspend their studies for a period of time shall apply to the Dean of the seminary for a leave of absence through the office of the Director of the D.Min. Program.

Excessive Absences

Regular attendance is an expectation for graduate-level learning.

Professors have the discretion to issue a grading penalty for excessive absences, including failure to log in or participate in assigned class sessions. While each instructor may set a more stringent policy, in no case will any student who is absent from one third of the classes (residential) or who fails to log into one third of the course sessions in a timely manner, including lectures and class forums (distance), receive a passing grade. For residential students, failure to complete pre-class assignments before class meetings will be regarded as being absent.

Withdrawal from the Seminary

Students permanently withdrawing from the seminary must submit a letter of withdrawal and must have an exit interview with the Dean of the Seminary and the Dean of Financial Planning before leaving. Distance students may conduct these exit interviews by phone. In emergencies or in cases where this is impossible, persons authorized to act for the student should notify the Dean of the situation.

Students who fail to enroll for either the spring or fall semesters without first having obtained a leave of absence will be considered as having withdrawn from the seminary (see Leave of Absence).

Students who have withdrawn from the seminary and who subsequently desire to return must apply for readmission through the normal admission process.

COMMENCEMENT

M.Div. and M.A.M.D. students may apply to graduate in August, December, February, or May, while D.Min. students graduate only in May. Graduation ceremonies take place only in May. Students graduating at other times are welcome to participate in May graduation ceremonies.

Students expecting to graduate in December or February must apply for graduation no later than May 1. Students expecting to graduate in May or August must apply for graduation no later than October 1. Failure to apply for graduation on time may prohibit graduation. Graduation application forms are available in the Registrar's Office or online.

Degrees are granted only after all program requirements have been met, all outstanding fees have been paid, and after readiness for graduation has been certified by the vote of the seminary faculty and approved by the university Board of Trustees. Seniors who have met all other graduation requirements may graduate nunc pro tunc if they lack only the completion of one course for graduation (five hours or less), if that course has received faculty approval for extension, and if the coursework is completed before the beginning of the following academic year. Students who complete their coursework in the fall session I August residency (5 credits or less), may also apply to graduate nunc pro tunc. Applications to graduate nunc pro tunc must be made through the Academic and Student Affairs Committee who will make a recommendation to the faculty. Such applications must be made to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee not later than February 1.

POLICIES

Inclusive Language Policy

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary affirms the equality of women and men in ministry and in the theological seminary, and affirms that language used in reference to humanity and to the people of God shall be gender-inclusive.

Papers and assignments done in the theological seminary shall conform to this guideline. Papers and assignments having gender-biased language are unacceptable and shall be returned to the student for correction and, if applicable, a late penalty will apply.

Sexual Harassment Policy

The University of Dubuque Theological Seminary is committed by Christian faith to justice for all persons and will not tolerate any behavior, verbal or physical, by any person associated with the seminary, which constitutes sexual harassment against any other person associated with the seminary or University.

The University Sexual Harassment Policy, which applies to students, faculty, and staff, can be found at the University of Dubuque Title IX Policy. Questions may also be directed to the Pastor to Students or Seminary Dean.

Statement on Disabilities

The University of Dubuque prohibits unlawful discrimination against qualified students with disabilities and encourages their full participation within the University community. All faculty, staff, and administrators will actively support qualified students with disabilities in all the University's educational programs, services, and activities. More detailed information is published in the University of Dubuque Student Handbook.

Grievance Procedures

The seminary grievance procedures which apply to students, faculty, and staff are published in the Seminary Appendix to the University of Dubuque Student Handbook.

MASTER'S DEGREES

Key to Course Numbers

Each course number begins with a D, and consists of a prefix (such as BI, HT, or MN) and a three-digit course number.

The prefix refers to the curriculum division in which the course is offered:

BI	Bible
HT	History/Theology
MN	Ministry
FE	Field Education
SPM	Supervised Practice of Ministry
IN	Integrative

The three-digit course number refers to the following classifications. Although some courses presuppose a certain level of preparation, students are free to take any course they wish, provided appropriate prerequisite requirements are met and their advisor approves.

000 Level:

Courses whose first digit is 0 do not ordinarily receive credit in a seminary degree program.

500 Level:

Foundational classes open to upper level under-graduates and first year seminarians.

600 Level:

Courses designed for middler students.

700 Level:

Courses designed for senior students.

Course Descriptions

The course descriptions below represent a listing of courses currently available at U.D.T.S. Courses may not be available in every instance precisely as described here. Full information on available courses at U.D.T.S, including objectives, content and requirements, is posted each semester on the seminary Moodle site. Courses offered at Wartburg Theological Seminary are listed on their website.

Instructors: Jordan Ryan, Staff

D BI 787 Families in the Early Christian World

(3 credits)

Prerequisites: BI 511, BI 550

Letter Grade or Pass/Fail

This elective course examines various New Testament passages (especially from the letters) that speak to family life in the Greco-Roman context. Among the social-historical topics to be addressed are slavery, marriage, sexuality and asceticism, child-rearing, and family economics, and how all these are utilized metaphorically by the letter-writers. Of special interest are the practical and theological intersections of households and house-churches. Throughout the course, we correlate our learnings with what we know about families and churches in our Western Christian culture, and consider how best to do "family ministry" today.

Instructor: Annette B. Huizenga

Prerequisites: HT500, HT 502 and HT 540, or permission of the instructor

Letter grade only

This course introduces students to the content of the Christian faith as believed and confessed by the Christian church from the early church to the present day. Christian Doctrine II examines the Person and Work of Christ, the Holy Spirit, salvation, the Church, sacraments, means of grace, the Christian Life, and Christian hope. There will be lectures, readings, and discussions. This will include readings and discussions of a variety of contemporary perspectives, such as Third World, feminist, and other theologies.

Instructor: Elmer Colyer

D HT 553 United Methodist Studies: Doctrine

(3 credits)

Prerequisites: MN 553 United Methodist Polity or HT521 United Methodist History

This course is a basic introduction to the doctrine of the United Methodist Church and the Wesleyan/Methodist theological heritage. D HT 553 fulfills the doctrinal education requirement of the Book of Discipline for candidates who are preparing for ordination in the United Methodist Church.

Instructor: Elmer Colyer

D HT 584 The Theology of C.S. Lewis

(3 credits)

This seminar will explore the life and thought of C.S. Lewis, one of the most popular lay theologians of the twentieth century, by reading and discussing a variety of his works and key secondary sources.

Instructor: Bradley Longfield

D HT 615 Presbyterian History and Confessions

(3 credits)

This course seeks to foster an engagement with the theology and ethos of the Reformed tradition. Our work will center around a study of the formative history of the Reformed movement, along with a survey of the Book of Confessions of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). This course is highly recommended for Presbyterian students.

Instructor: Bradley Longfield, Staff

D HT 631 Native American Christianity

(3 credits)

This seminar is an historical survey of the growth of Native American Christianity in the United States. It will examine the missionary goals and methods employed to missionize Native Americans, the various responses to missionization, and the development of vital and viable Native American Christian congregations. Particular focus will be upon Native American Presbyterians.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

D HT 640 Building Bridges: Christianity and World Religions

(3 credits)

This seminar will provide an introduction to the historical, cultural, and religious backgrounds of Judaism, Islam, Buddhism and Hinduism, the world's major organized religions, and their complex relationships with Christianity. It will examine cultural and historical developments, religious commitments, and their engagement with those of other faiths. The course will also seek to provide not only awareness and understanding of these great world religions, but will challenge us, as Christians, to find ways that we can address the issues that separate us, to seek common ground with the values that we share, and to bear a Christian witness that winsomely engages our neighbors and builds bridges for faith and friendships of peace.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

D HT647 Redeeming the Routines of Ministry and Life: A Theological/Practical Approach to Ordering Ministry & Life
(3 Credits)

Prerequisite: HT540 and HT 556

This course is designed to help the student develop a theological and practical approach to the problem of ordering his or her ministry and life in the context of contemporary American culture with its increasingly hectic style and pace of life.

Instructor: Elmer Colyer

D HT 667 American Puritanism through Edwards
(3 credits)

In this seminar, we will examine the Puritan tradition in America by reading and discussing primary and secondary works concerning Puritanism, culminating with a more intensive look at writings by and about Jonathan Edwards.

Instructor: Bradley Longfield

D HT 671 The Theology of John Wesley
(3 credits)

Prerequisite: HT521 and HT 653

John Wesley is the father of Methodism and the most significant influence on the subsequent Wesleyan theological heritage. This course examines selected writings of John Wesley. Instructor: Bradley Longfield

D HT 688 Christian Social Ethics
(2 credits)

This course will introduce students to major themes, approaches and issues in Christian ethics, with an emphasis on relating biblical Christian faith to contemporary social issues. Students taking this course will gain practical experience in ethical reason and analysis as well as exposure to a number of different approaches to ethical issues.

Instructor: Staff

D HT 714 Missionaries, Mystics, and Martyrs
(3 credits)

This seminar will explore the lives of Christian missionaries, mystics, and martyrs and why they matter to the church. Christians believe that God is always speaking and these are ones who, often despite failures and foibles, are listening. They can teach us to be better listeners to the Triune God, provide role models of Christian discipleship and witness, and are a testimony to the love and glory of God. In light of what they have to teach us, we will assess our own availability to God for participation in the missio Dei, or mission of God.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

D HT720 Trinitarian Ecclesiology: On Being the Church in a Post-Christian Society

(3 credits)

Prerequisite: HT540 and HT 556

This course is an in-depth study of ecclesiology or the doctrine of the Church. The course will focus on the question of ecclesiality, what it is that makes the Church the Church, as well as on the various Church practices that embody and flow from ecclesiality.

Instructor: Elmer Colyer

D HT 757 Christianity and Islam

(3 credits)

This seminar will provide an introduction to the historical, cultural and religious background of Islam and its complex relationship with Christianity. It will examine a common heritage as “people of the Book,” as well as divergent understandings of that heritage by exploring Qur’anic and Christian texts. It will also seek to provide awareness of the multidimensional facets of Islam and how Christians can address the issues, approach Muslim neighbors, and seek common ground through building friendships with those who also are seeking to know and honor God.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

D HT 769 The Trinitarian Theology of T.F. Torrance

(3 credits)

Prerequisite: HT540 and HT 556 or permission of the instructor

This course examines the theology of Thomas F. Torrance. Torrance was the most outstanding Reformed theologian in the Anglo-Saxon world in the twentieth century. MINISTRY DIVISION

D MN 501 Leading Christian Worship

(3 credits)

Letter grade only

This course serves as an introduction to the biblical and theological roots of worship, the history of worship in the Christian church, and the character and shape of corporate worship in particular congregations and traditions. Attention will be given to the place of sacraments, symbols, architecture and music in worship. Students will also be guided in the practice of liturgical leadership and will reflect on their roles as worship leaders.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 504 Young Adult Formation

(2 credits)

This course explores the cultural, intellectual, emotional and spiritual experiences of US young adults (18-30) with an understanding of the larger global context. Students will follow a practical theological method which explores a continuum of young adult experiences and then brings it into conversation with the resources of the Christian faith: scripture, reason, experience, and tradition, as a means of better understanding moves of the Spirit toward transformation, faith formation, and discipleship. Students will reflect on their own generational and social locations with a goal of developing their gifts for leadership and ministry with and for young adults in a variety of contexts.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 506 Young Adult World

(2 credits)

This course explores cultural, intellectual, emotional and spiritual experiences of US young adults (15-25) through the lens of fiction stories. Students in this seminar-style course will follow a practical theological method to explore artifacts of US young adult eras, bringing them into conversation with the resources of the Christian faith: scripture, reason, experience, and tradition. The goals of the course are to better understand the worldview(s) and felt needs of this age group; discern appropriate and effective ways to share the Gospel with young adults; and pay attention to moves of the Spirit toward transformation, faith formation, and discipleship already present.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 515 Theology and Practice of Music in Worship

(3 credits)

This course explores the theological role of music in gatherings of worship; immerses students in planning worship and music selection, with attention to the powerful role music has in communicating God's narrative of salvation, forming worshippers as disciples, and building habits and memory; and gives students practical helps in basic music theory, prayerful music leadership, and music worship resources. During the course, students explore a variety of song styles including chant, Taize, Spirit-led, Gospel, contemporary praise, and alternative worship.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 524 Conflict and Christian Community
(2 credits)

This course provides a framework for understanding the underlying causes of conflict in congregations. The correlation between types of change and conflict is discussed. Insights from family systems theory are introduced. You will assess the efficacy of your own personal response to different levels of conflict. You will learn ways that conflict can serve as a means of grace and spiritual deepening.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 528 Introduction to Spiritual Direction
(2 credits)
Letter grade only

In an age of competing demands for time and attention, cultivating a listening and attentive presence is critical for those called into ministry. This course explores a variety of approaches to the art of spiritual direction, both in history and ecumenically. The course includes exercises for developing listening skills and discernment, and reflecting on personal gifts and challenges to attentive presence.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 531 Making Disciples I
(2 credits)
Letter grade only

This course, part one of a required two-course series with MN531, explores the role and practice of the teaching and discipling ministries of the church as graced means of cultivating the character of Christ personally and corporately. An incarnational model of teaching and learning—engaging the whole person—is emphasized. Students reflect on their own experiences of these ministries, both as teacher and student; engage texts on teaching, contemplative attention, spiritual formation in children and youth, virtue formation, and catechesis; and practice practical theological reflection as they build skills for teaching in various contexts. Models for learning, recent cognitive research, and instructional design models will be dialogue partners as students select and describe a context of teaching and learning; then design, teach, and evaluate a teaching/learning experience. MN530 & MN531 are offered in successive August and Fall terms.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 532 Making Disciples II
(1 credit)
Letter grade only
Prerequisites: MN 531

This course, part one of a required two-course series with MN530, enables students to develop and teach a learning experience within their ministry contexts. MN531 and MN532 are offered in successive August and Fall terms.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 538 Planning and Leading Short-term Mission
(1-3 credits)

This course prepares students to develop ministries of short-term mission that are theologically grounded, culturally sensitive, tied to the ministry and mission of the wider church, and carried out by participants who are practically and spiritually well prepared. The course can be taken on its own, or as a prerequisite for participation in a seminary mission team.

Instructor: Beth McCaw

D MN 548 Ministry and Money

(3 credits)

Money is one of the dominant forces in our society. A Christian response to the power of money draws on Biblical images and theological understandings of stewardship and faithful living. Christian leaders must be able to both teach and model this faithful response. This course will serve as an introduction to how this can be done with character and integrity.

Instructors: Staff

D MN 553 United Methodist Polity

(3 credits)

A basic study of the Book of Discipline 2000 of the United Methodist Church with special attention to United Methodist polity in theory and practice. MN 553D fulfills the polity educational requirement of Paragraph 315.4 for candidates who are preparing for ordination in the United Methodist Church.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 555 The Polity and Program of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

(3 credits)

This is a course in the principles and practices of the polity of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). The class will study the ecclesiology reflected in the government of the church and will deal specifically with the powers, rights and responsibilities of the local congregation, the session, the presbytery, the synod, and the General Assembly, as well as General Assembly agencies and the minister. The foundation of the course will be the Book of Order of the PC (U.S.A.), with particular emphasis on the Form of Government and the Rules of Discipline. The class will also study the mission program and administrative process of the governing bodies. This class is highly recommended for Presbyterian students.

Instructors: Staff

D MN 564 Theological and Biblical Research Methods

(1 credit)

Students learn basic research techniques that help them succeed in seminary; exploring research tools such as library catalogs, electronic databases, and print and online reference works. Students create a bibliography in University of Chicago (Turabian) format.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 578 Nurturing Wholeness in Christ: Caregiving I

(2 credits)

Letter grade only

An introduction to the caring aspects of pastoral ministry, including biblical and theological foundations of care, the development of pastoral identity, various models of care, and varieties of essential pastoral communication skills necessary for entering diverse situations of crisis and need. The two sessions of this course take place in successive spring and August terms.

Instructor: Beth McCaw

D MN 579 Nurturing Wholeness in Christ: Caregiving II

(1 credit)

Letter grade only

An introduction to the caring aspects of pastoral ministry, including biblical and theological foundations of care, the development of pastoral identity, various models of care, and varieties of essential pastoral communication skills necessary for entering diverse situations of crisis and need. The two sessions of this course take place in successive spring and August terms.

Instructor: Beth McCaw

D MN 600 Proclaiming the Word

(3 credits)

Letter grade only

This course will lay the foundation for the practice of preaching in the church. It will strengthen the students' development of homiletical methods that include reflecting on biblical texts and theological themes, understanding the preaching context, and forming and delivering sermons that communicate orally and aurally. Students will preach in class and respond to colleagues' sermons with a view toward building skills in pastoral sensitivity and critical listening.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 601 Foundations of Christian Leadership

(3 credits)

Letter grade only

This course introduces a Christian understanding of the theory and practice of leadership focusing on four core aspects of leadership: practices, organization, environment, and God's sovereignty. It examines Biblical and theological concepts of leadership, explores modern understandings of leadership, and applies these concepts and understandings to missional contexts.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 602 Spiritual Disciplines: Theological Frameworks

(2 credits)

This class explores Christian spiritual disciplines through both a theological and practical lens. Students study various theologians and their frameworks for understanding God, and analyze how spiritual disciplines work within these frameworks. For the final project, students craft an in-depth description of their own theological framework, drawing upon the four sources of scripture, reason, tradition, and experience, and assess how their practice of spiritual disciplines functions within it.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D MN 605 Spirit and Truth: the Pastor as Liturgist

(3 credits)

This course, which builds on Foundations of Christian Worship (MN 401/501), aims to develop the student's ability to apply scriptural and theological (particularly doxological and eschatological) criteria to the task of planning and providing for worship that is both spiritually vibrant and truly faithful. The liturgical role of the pastor and the network of pastoral relationships that are essential for effectively planning Christian worship that is simultaneously glorious and enjoyable will be considered in depth, specifically as matters of tradition and culture, essential elements and matters of preference (adiaphora), vie for the attention and priority of those charged with responsibility and accountability for worship. An awareness of the need to balance matters of shared responsibility and the proper use of authority and care in matters assigned to the pastor alone will be cultivated and practiced.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 606 The Mystery of Marriage

(3 credits)

This course will introduce various types of premarital and marital counseling appropriate for most practitioners of pastoral care. This class will be grounded in a theology of marriage. Course objectives include: to understand the relationship between theological anthropology and marriage; to articulate biblical, historical and theological foundations of marriage; to understand human sexuality as an expression of relationality; and to examine and critique models for premarital and marital counseling.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 611 The Ministry of Leadership
(3 credits)

This course will examine biblical, historical, and contemporary models of leadership with the goal of preparing pastors and congregational leaders to develop a clear theology of leadership grounded in vision, shared power, and spiritual gifts. Students will examine theories of leadership using reflection and self-inventory in order to determine one's own style and development as a leader, to become alert to the abuses of power within congregations, to become familiar with dynamics of leadership in different congregational settings, and to discover resources for the leadership development and training of pastors, staff, and lay leaders.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 612/D HT 612 The Ministerial Vocation
(3 credits)

This course is devoted to integrative theological reflection on the practice of ministry in dialogue with classical and contemporary writers. Students will work to develop a theological understanding of Christian ministry that can serve to order and integrate their course work in seminary, as well as provide a coherent theological framework for shaping and defining their work as pastors.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 613 Tools for Church Revitalization
(2 credits)

This course will examine the context of the crisis of decline facing mainline denominations in the United States and introduce tools that can help congregations rediscover core commitments and move from maintenance to mission.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 616 The Use of the Psalms in Christian Worship
(2 or 3 credits)

This course explores the full breadth of the psalms in their various genres and functions; the history of their liturgical use in ancient Israel, and in the early, medieval, Reformation and modern eras; and the practical possibilities for using the psalms more broadly and effectively in worship today, including preaching the psalms.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 626 Creative Models for Worship
(2 credits)

This elective seminar course complements Foundations of Worship in equipping students to enrich worship through the use of diverse resources, the gifts of the congregation, and a collaborative approach to planning. In a seminar format students will engage in study, discussion, planning, and evaluation of services of worship.

Instructor: Beth McCaw

D MN 630 Starting Missional Communities
(2 credits)

In our changing contexts, today's Christian leaders need, more than ever, to be able to cultivate new communities that can discern and join in the Spirit's initiatives. This course explores models of church planting and innovation and equips students with the missional imagination and habits needed to develop and lead new Christian communities that are contextually-rooted, spiritually vibrant, and theologically robust.

Instructor: Christopher James

D MN 632 Preaching from the Old Testament

(3 credits)

Prerequisite: MN 540

This is an advanced course in preaching and builds on skills and knowledge acquired in Foundations of Preaching (MN 640D). Students will undertake a study of one book from the Old Testament for the purposes of proclamation. In more general terms, students will be introduced to specific issues of biblical and theological interpretation that attend preaching from the Old Testament. In addition, students will also be asked to listen to and dialogue with pastors and scholars who are distinguished in the fields of preaching and homiletics and articulate a more nuanced vision of the preaching life.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 633 Preaching from New Testament Books

(3 credits)

Prerequisite: MN 540

This is an advanced course in preaching and builds on skills and knowledge acquired in Foundations of Preaching (MN 640D). Students will undertake a study of one book from the New Testament for the purposes of proclamation. Along the way, students will be asked to listen to and dialogue with pastors and scholars who are distinguished in the fields of preaching and homiletics. Students will interact with readings, lectures, peers, and other materials as they continue to develop an integrative knowledge of the theology and practice of preaching.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 642 Expository Preaching

(2 credits)

Prerequisite: MN 540

Letter grade or pass/fail

This course focuses on developing a clear understanding of expository preaching: what it is; what distinguishes it from other homiletical forms; what its role has been in the history of proclamation and in connection with periods of reformation, revitalization, and renewal; how to prepare and deliver expository sermons; and how to leverage the expository method in the development of preaching plans with the aim of spiritual growth, congregational nurture, evangelism, and missions.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 643 The Liturgical Year

(3 credits)

Prerequisites: MN 501

This course seeks to 1) retrace and expose key historical and theological developments in the evolution of the Christian Year, including its roots in the feasts of Israel; 2) give thematic consideration to the major seasons of the liturgical year; 3) critically evaluate the strengths and liabilities of using the Revised Common Lectionary for worship planning and preaching; 4) explore fruitful avenues of supplementing the limited scriptural diet of lectionary-based churches with a view to the spiritual formation of congregations; and 5) restore the entirety of the scriptural canon and the theological encyclopedia to full functionality in the planning of prophetic, programmatic preaching and vital, eschatological worship, mitigating the effect of vain repetition and merely temporal observances (Gal 3:10) that undermine the church's spiritual vitality, witness, and mission.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

D MN 651 Leaders as Stewards

(3 credits)

Letter grade only

Prerequisite: MN 601

This course examines leadership practice through the lens of Christian stewardship. Three primary dimensions of organizational stewardship will be examined through both theory and application: the stewardship of physical resources, the stewardship of others and their gifts, and the stewardship of mission.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 661 Pastoral Administration
(3 credits)

This course explores the nature and purpose of Pastoral Administration focusing on administration as a gift of the Holy Spirit given for the common good of the church. Special emphasis will be placed on the Pastoral Administrator's identity and role as steward of the gifts within a congregation; a systems approach to understanding the forces and functions within a congregation; and the interactive relationship between congregations and their environments. Students will cultivate individual skills, gifts, and temperaments in church administration with an emphasis on empowering lay persons and creating a healthy church culture.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 709 Worship in the Reformed Tradition
(3 credits)

This course will introduce students to the history and theology of worship in the Reformed tradition. Special emphasis will be placed on the current worship practices of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), with attention to the "Directory for Worship" in the Book of Order, and other denominational resources. This course is highly recommended for Presbyterian students.

Instructor: Staff

D MN 716 The Forgiveness of Sins
(3 credits)

This course seeks to examine the central position of the forgiveness of sins in pastoral ministry. Utilizing Biblical, theological, historical and psychological resources, students will gain a better understanding of what Eduard Thurneysen refers to as the "basis of pastoral care." Students will then focus upon caring skills in order to encourage the receiving and offering of forgiveness. Finally, students will be encouraged to examine the pastoral image of Confessor and to develop a model of ministry which helps the congregation reclaim the "Office of the Keys."

Instructor: Staff

D MN 774 Preaching the Passion
(1 or 2 credits)

Prerequisites: MN 540

This advanced course in preaching, which builds on the skills and knowledge acquired in Foundations of Preaching (MN 540), examines the unique literary character of, and the Christological considerations involved in preaching from the passion narratives. How might the preacher better expound and proclaim the vital significance of the two longest and most complex narratives in each of the gospels? This course invites the preacher to consider and correct a major lacuna in lectionary preaching, and to proclaim the gospel from the perspective of Christ's redemptive suffering on the cross.

Instructor: Timothy Slemmons

INTEGRATIVE/INTEGRATED COURSES

Integrative courses are taught by the professors of all three divisions. Integrated courses are normally taught by a single professor.

D IN 520 God's Redemptive Mission
(4 credits)

This four-credit introductory course for all incoming students will help to prepare students for their seminary experience and ministry vocations. It provides an orientation and overview of the mission of God through the ages and what it means for the church to participate in God's redemption of the world through Christ. It focuses on the Triune God as a missionary God, the worshipping community as witness to the Gospel, and all Christians as apostolic members of the body of Christ. Furthermore, it equips students with patterns and practices for nurturing a life of discipleship, intimacy with Jesus Christ, and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit that will serve to unify a life of prayer, study, and service as disciples of Christ Jesus in today's world.

Instructors: Susan Forshey, Annette Huizenga, Bonnie Sue Lewis

D IN 521 Disciple Formation I
(0.5 credit)

The first of a two-part series with IN 522, this course focuses on making space for God in daily life, and will help prepare students for their seminary experience and ministry vocations by providing patterns and practices for nurturing a life of discipleship intimacy with Jesus Christ and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit. Students gather in an online or on-campus group for the purpose of prayer and practice in community, covenanting together to explore personal and corporate disciplines, combining scholarly reading with experiential practice.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D IN 522 Disciple Formation II
(0.5 credit)

Prerequisite: IN 521

The second of a two-part series with IN 521, this course focuses on deepening intimacy with God through the ancient practices of discipleship. It helps students further integrate their lives, seminary experience and ministry vocations together by continued practice of disciplines nurturing a life of discipleship intimacy with Jesus Christ and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit. Students gather online or on-campus for the purpose of prayer and practice in community, covenanting together to explore personal and corporate disciplines, combining scholarly reading with experiential practice.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D IN 721 Disciple Formation III
(0.5 credit)

Prerequisite: IN 522

The first in a two-course series with IN722, this course encourages students to reflect on and continue to integrate their seminary experience as they look ahead to God's next step in life and ministry. Students meet for the purpose of prayer and practice in community online or residentially, and engage in practices for nurturing a life of intimacy with Jesus Christ and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit. This course takes the discussion of spiritual disciplines to a deeper level and explores the call to vocational holiness, gratitude, and the challenges of dealing with addictions in the light of grace.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D IN 722 Disciple Formation IV
(0.5 credit)

Prerequisite: IN 721

The second in a two-course series with IN721, this course encourages students to reflect on and continue to integrate their seminary experience as they look ahead to God's next step in life and ministry. Students meet for the purpose of prayer and practice in community online or residentially, and engage in practices for nurturing a life of intimacy with Jesus Christ and attentive listening to the Holy Spirit. This course takes the discussion of spiritual disciplines to a deeper level and explores the call to vocational holiness and personal discipleship in the midst of life, ministry, and leadership within the Church.

Instructor: Susan Forshey

D IN 782 Gospel in Context
(3 credits)

Letter grade only; additional fee required

Wherever one does mission, the character of the context shapes the forms of evangelism and mission that are viable, appropriate, and faithful. This course explores the work of contextualization--how the gospel is proclaimed and embodied contextually. This course includes a brief immersion trip as well as classroom sessions to help students develop basic skills in reading contexts for Christian ministry. Building on a theological foundation, it considers how context is reflected in the forms of ministry and witness observed. Cost per person for the immersion to be billed to students by the student accounts office, is $300.00. The prerequisite is IN 520 God's Redemptive Mission.

Instructors: Christopher James, Staff

D IN 783 The Missional Church
(3 credits)

It is not so much that the church has a mission, but that God's mission (the missio Dei) has a church. This course reflects on the concrete practice of leading western congregations into greater missional identity and practice. Focus will be placed on approaches to Christian renewal and growth through cultivation of missional culture, spirituality, and engagement.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

D IN 784 World Christianity
(3 credits)

Meets core requirement for M.A.M.D.

Letter grade only

This course provides the student with an overview of the breadth and diversity of the Christian movement as it explores global contexts, biblical witness, and discipleship around the world. The student will gain a greater appreciation of the faithfulness of Christ's church worldwide and the many ways the church embraces its missional identity in different places. There is much we can learn from one another.

Instructor: Bonnie Sue Lewis

SUPERVISED PRACTICE OF MINISTRY (S.P.M.) AND FIELD EDUCATION (F.E.) COURSES

M.Div. students are required to complete three credits of Supervised Practice of Ministry (S.P.M.) and three Field Education (F.E.)

classes (FE 601, 602, and 603) to qualify for graduation. M.Div. students may enroll in S.P.M. only after completion of one year of seminary.

M.A.M.D. students are required to complete one credit of Supervised Practice of Ministry and one Field Education course: FE 602.

Most students fulfill their Supervised Practice of Ministry requirements at field placements during the fall and spring semesters. Other options are possible: Clinical Pastoral Education (C.P.E.) for S.P.M. credit or full-time summer S.P.M. placements. Normally at least two credits of Supervised Practice must be completed in a congregational setting for the M.Div.

In order to be considered for S.P.M. credit, all placements must be approved in advance by the Director of Field Education. Guidelines for compensation, supervision and position descriptions are posted on the Field Education portion of the Seminary website.

Field Education Courses
